

The Literary Society is made up of thirty-four picked boys who are interested in Public Speaking and Debating.

Its officers are Hib Robertson, president; Jerry DeLuca, vice president; Brad Smith, secretary and treasurer.

The club is divided into eight debating teams and on each Monday night two teams debate before the club unless the instructor in public speaking is present and the classes in speech are held.

The club was too late in getting organized to become a member of the district debating league but it hopes to become a member next year.

Seated, left to right: Orvin, B. (Critic), Smith, B. (Secretary), Robertson (President), De Luca (Vice President), Rosholt (Critic).

First row, left to right: Crosby, Smith, D., Chauncey, Risher, Cuevas, R., Salley, Norton, Orvin, W., Schoonmaker, Cruit, A.

Second row: Richardson, Beach, Williams, W., Mirkis, Albrecht, Ridgeway, Biron, Smith, W., Ulmer, Williams, R., Arnold.

Third row: Garrett, Duke, Cruit, M., Watson, Mehaffey.

THE JAMES M. GRIMES LITERARY SOCIETY