

FOREWORD

We, the staff of the 1949 REBEL, have tried earnestly to bring before you in this book a complete pictorial outline of cadet life at Carlisle Military School.

On the following pages lie the formal and informal photos of the students at work and at play. This annual includes views of the physical structures, the organization of the battalion, of the cadet as he is engaged in academic and military pursuits, in athletics, and in the extra-curricular activities of his club or society.

The student body is composed of boys from all over the United States, neighboring countries, and American territories. We are proud of our achievements and the recognition we have received through our working together as a well-disciplined military unit.

Now as you pass through the portals of youth and into the world of men where un-ending toil is the only gate to success, we hope, with all sincerity, that this annual will serve you as a brief but pleasant reminder of your boyhood days, and of the many happy experiences you enjoyed at Carlisle.
