

HONOR COUNCIL

The Honor Council, the judicial committee of Carlisle, is composed of the cadet major, captain adjutant, and the company commanders. The council functions under the supervision of faculty advisor Captain Waddy Thompson.

Upon this committee rests the responsibility of punishing those cadets who have committed offenses too serious in nature to be reprimanded by regularly prescribed rules of discipline.

The recommendations and judgments of the Council are strong influences in the final decision, and in their adjudications, the members must maintain an unbiased and impartial resolution.
