

NON-COMM CLUB

The Non-Commissioned Officers' Club forms the nucleus for the disciplinary system at Carlisle. Morale, which is a strong influence in school affairs, is controlled mostly by "Non-Comms". The commissioned officers of tomorrow are chosen from this group, and honor and dependability are the deciding factors for their selection. Knowledge of leadership is obtained through duties performed by these men, and it makes them capable of efficiently and effectively executing the responsibilities of an admirable cadet officer. With this invaluable training they doubtlessly will be the future leaders of America.
