

FOREWORD

This year, as in the past, we once again have tried to present to you, the readers of our '53 REBEL, a clear and precise picture of the Carlisle cadet, his routine of duty, and various outside interests and activities. These, along with the cadet's moments of leisure time, mold his life and character into one full and abundant, fitting in all phases of human life.

As you turn the pages of this yearbook, we, the annual staff of 1953, sincerely hope that what you see before you will be of lasting interest and enjoyment, thus fulfilling our endeavors and achievements.