THE HONOR COUNCIL

Of all the organizations at Carlisle, by far, the most respected is the Honor Council. This group of cadets, along with their faculty advisor, form the nucleus of student government at Carlisle. Upon the shoulders of these persons rests the responsibility of recommending punishment to the Headmaster for major rule violations that strike at the core of discipline. The decisions of this group affect not only the cadets involved, but very often set a precedent that may be followed in future years.

The Honor Council is made up of the cadet major who acts as chairman, all cadet captains, and the P.M.S.&T., Capt. Waddy Thompson, who is the faculty advisor.
