

BATTALION

The Cadet Battalion, which is composed of five companies and the staff, undergoes a rigid military training and disciplinary program. Besides the daily drill periods and the Sunday dress parades, the cadets attend classes in Military Science and Tactics. Faculty officers Major Waddy Thompson and Captain William Scaffé supervise this program, which will prove most valuable in future life.

All regulations are enforced by the cadet commissioned and non-commissioned officers, with the aid of the faculty. It has long been the practice to leave to the cadets the disciplinary actions that must be taken for minor offenses. The Honor Council recommends punishment for major offenses. This has proved most satisfactory in developing a sense of leadership and above-standard character among the cadets in charge.

The student body is widely recognized for its actions as a well-disciplined and well-trained unit and Carlisle has been designated an Honor School by the Department of the Army. These achievements could never have been attained without the complete cooperation of each individual.
