

FOREWORD

Graduation is nearly here, but before we leave, let us look back and see what Carlisle has given us. Carlisle has placed in our hands "The Lamp of Knowledge." The military life has disciplined us in mind and body.

In this book, we have tried to bring back some of these precious moments through the medium of words and pictures, and we hope that when you look into this book in the future, it will bring back memories of the best days of your life.
