

. . . and now as you close the pages of this annual, let its many memories not settle you down to wistful melancholy; but spur you on to eternal greatness.