FIVE YEAR MEN

The Five-Year-Men, which consist of those entering Carlisle in the eighth Grade, and following on through until graduation, are only five in number. Their first year at Carlisle was in the year 1961. They started out with 29 classmates, who through the years fell out of school. The fifth yearmen have seen many changes; anywhere from new buildings to changes in school regulations.

Upon graduation these boys probably feel more sentiment and regrets in leaving than any of the other cadets. They have met and made more personal friends through the years, than most people achieve in a lifetime.
