

Happy Birthday Mr. President! In one of Marilyn Monroe's most famous outfits junior Lauri Cattles dressed for Celebrity Day. Lauri put a lot of preparation into looking good, including applying a false mole and wearing a wig.

Cruising Down Cougar Lane

Raising Weakened Spirits

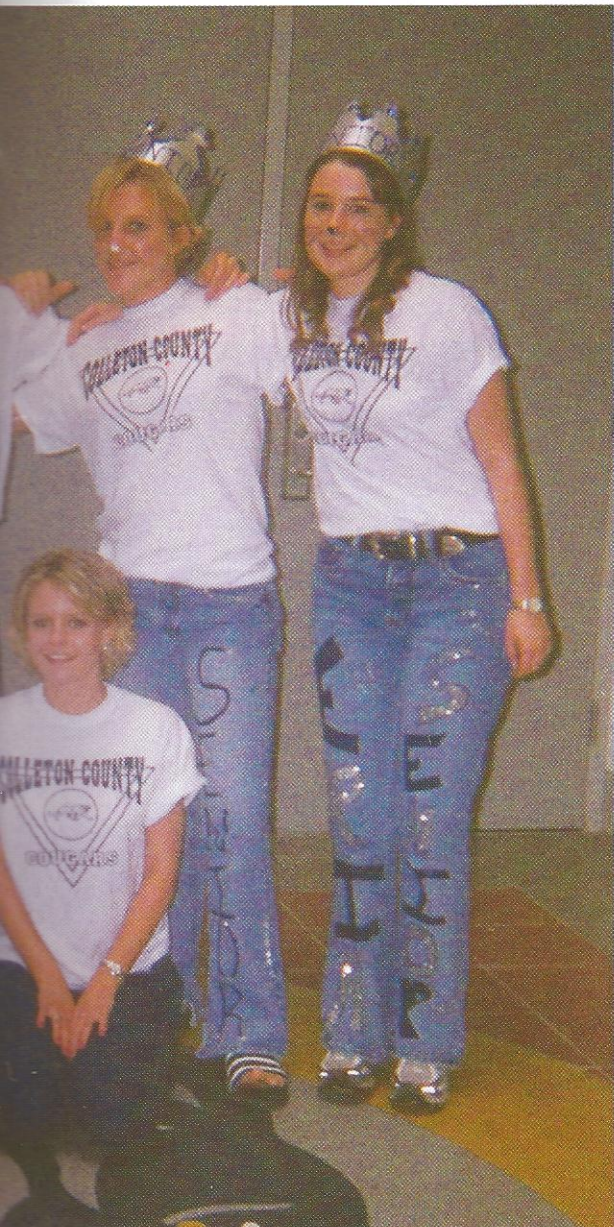

In the weeks leading up to Spirit Week, October 7-11, Cougar spirits plunged to an all time low. Due to rebellious students constantly pulling fire alarms, students sat in classrooms on lock-down, unable to leave their rooms for days at a time. Despite the bad conditions, spirit week gave students a reason for wanting to come to school. "Spirit Week helps to express the way you feel about your school," junior Shena Stephens said.

With so much time spent in the classroom leading up to spirit week, dress up time created a well deserved break. "Spirit Week gives students a breather from everything serious and a time to show support for our school," said senior Bryson Tyler.

Being a new year for the Cougar mascot, some students were on the fence about what to paint on their faces. "I think scratch marks like cougar claws would be a cool idea to use," senior Jared Morris said.

-Erin Way

Joined at the Hips. With locked arms, sophmores Michelle Walker and Christy Russell show off their similar fashion sense and their matching outfits on Twin Day. Christy and Michelle participated in all five days.

Carolina Girls, Best in the World! Showing their Carolina Pride on Monday, College Day, sophomore Yasmine Hamilton and senior Ma'Aishia Brown dressed in matching Gamecock t-shirts.