

Lending a hand. Freshman Alexandria Hutchinson gives freshman Carlos Hamlin a boost while going over a French assignment. "Helping someone or being able to help someone makes me feel good about myself," Hutchinson said.

Smiling faces. While learning to lead, freshman Shakelia Inabinett maintains her post at open house. Inabinett and other NJROTC members served school visitors that night. "I was pleased to see so many happy parents at open house," said Inabinett.

Let's get together. Sophomores Erin Bunton, Brandi Traynum, and Garret McCormack work together on a project for Mrs. Travis' class. "We were supposedly making progress on our projects that were due, but we just talked and had fun," said Bunton

Paving the way for excellence. Ms. Brenda Jenkins, freshman guidance counselor, offers an encouraging word to senior Marsha Williams. "I'm not even a member of her class, but Ms. Jenkins is always there to talk when I need her," said Williams

