

The new teachers pose for a picture in the mini auditorium. "Changing schools was an exciting challenge to overcome," Mrs. Lynelle Holmes said. Mrs. Holmes taught at Campus A until this past year.

Students in Mrs. Travis's first period class gather around her welcome mat. Total teachers were encouraged to have door mats. "The mat is to make students feel more welcome," Mrs. Nettles said.

Mrs. Gantt's freshmen class works diligently on their assignments. "The high school is a whole lot different than middle school. There's a lot more work," Michael Sander said. Michael went to Campus A year before last year.

New Principal Coach Bullock looks out for the students safety. He succeeded in getting the students across the road to the football practice field. "Just trying to get the kids out the building before it burns down," Coach Bullock said.

School nurse Amy DeLong sits at her desk in her new office. She looked over the students' health files. "I love being here. Everyone has been really nice and has made me feel at home," Mrs. DeLong said.

I came to CCHS because I didn't like it at Colleton Prep. Plus all my friends were here.

-Jeffrey Ament, 10th