

The chorus sings their hearts out at the homecoming game. Senior Christina Crank received a flower for the homecoming game that made her stand out from the rest.

"Giving blood gave me a chance to help the community. It makes me feel good that I might be helping save someone's life," senior Jennifer Kauffield said.

Commander Armantrout runs drills with the NJROTC in the bus parking lot after school. The cadets practiced hard throughout the whole year.

Riding the bus has always been a drag for me because there is always some kind of problem that cannot be solved. I am glad that I have barely ridden the bus this year because of the extracurricular activities. Iver Grahn, 12th

"I worked really hard this year making this yearbook as good as it could be. It frustrated me at times, but it payed off in the end. I was very proud of all the staff members."

—Lauren Nottles, 11th

Mr. Drake curteously rolls Mrs. Pawlak down Social Studies lane. The two have been working together for quite some time. "Accelerate your life," Mrs. Pawlak said.
