

Was all of the hard work worth it?

"Every band member knows that marching was extremely difficult and tiring, but it was all worth it in the end."

Sarah Hartenburg, 12th

"Band was very fun, and I know it will benefit me in the future."

Jackie Moultrie, 10th

"I loved being in band. It was exciting and it kept me busy."

Cierra Ulyer, 11th

Senior Jennifer Hankerson plays her clarinet at practice. Jennifer believes that she had to be a dedicated person to stay in band for four years. "I was in band for four years and I enjoyed the payoff of it every year," Jennifer said.

In a perfect line, the tuba section shows off their skills to the audience. Tubas were the largest and the most noticeable instruments on the field. "Being a tuba player was very hard work. It was a very heavy instrument and it's sometimes hard to keep up," sophomore Trace Taylor said.

The band, playing like a boom box at the pep-rallys livens up the crowd. They played stand music and some musical hits from the radio. "We wanted to play more, but we have to stop when told," junior Eric Beach said.

Junior band member Cassie Glover plays with all of her heart and ability. "Band had a promising team to be involved in and it was fun," she said.
