

What does National Honor Society mean to you?

"It was a great honor to be in such a nationally accredited group. The National Honor Society was a guideline for the best life I can make for myself."

Sagar Patel, 11th Grade

"NHS was my chance to help and give back to the community I live in. There was always such a great feeling after helping someone."

Raymond Jacobs, 12th Grade

"The National Honor Society program taught me how to better myself as a person in the categories of leadership and character."

Anita Gethers, 11th grade

Seniors Josh Lyons, Nikki Lemacks, and Raymond Jacobs share the wealth and give out free popcorn at Open House. "I enjoy NHS because I get to help people, even though the forty service hours can be a lot," Josh said.

Twenty-nine new junior and senior members were inducted into National Honor Society based on their character, service, leadership and scholarship. With candle in hand, many of the new members were hoping they didn't catch anything on fire.

Putting on a comedian show at one of the meetings, senior Lee Stroud gets some laughs from the crowd. He was accompanied by the arms of senior Raymond Jacobs. "NHS was a great way to get to know people better, and make a difference in the school," Lee said.

Volunteering by babysitting, senior Pam Patel soothes one of the little kids being watched at the Women's Health Day Clinic. Pam was willing to give up her afternoon to help with babysitting. "Babysitting was one of the service projects I do for my NHS service hours," Pam said.
