

Going with the ball, Lameshia McWilliams tried to get past the other person. The crowd watched on in excitement. "They have improved so much since the beginning of the year," coach Browning said.

Going for the basket, Brittany Reed tried not to let the other opponent block her shot. She kept her eye on the hoop. "I love basketball, and I always try to do my best," Brittany said.

GET READY

With new players and a new season, the junior varsity team geared up. Tryouts were held in the school's gym on November 1 and 2, 2004. For some, tryouts came easy. "Tryouts were not hard because I knew what I had to do," freshman Mara Broughton said. For many, they knew what to expect. They already knew what they hoped to gain from playing. "I want to continue to play throughout high school. After that, I would like to attend Duke University and may be go pro," freshman Brittany Witherspoon said. As the season came to an end, the girls debated whether or not to come back. They even began to recruit new players for a new season. Some even gave out advice. "When it's time to try out, all you can do is your best," freshman Angel Farmer said.

-Hope Grant

First row: Brittany Witherspoon, Christian Williams, Candice Bussell, Brittaneey Reed and Shonta' Young. second row: Whitney Scriven, Savannah Ferguson, Angel Farmer, Coach Browning, Porsha Jones, Aviance Welch, and Lameshia McWilliams

SCORES

	Us	Them
stratford	10	20
wando	10	30
west ashley	17	35
james island	34	35
fort	39	24
dorchester	25	11
battery creek	32	34
beaufort	29	32

