

Coming to school, looking around and seeing all the boys wearing dresses, girls looking outrageously tacky and your teachers returning back to their retro roots can only mean one thing, Spirit Week. The one week where the whole school has a free ticket to deck out in their most outgoing and unordinary attire. All the halls are full of blue and silver, and quotes steamed down the halls in ever direction. Students' faces were finally full of what everyone had anticipated in the very beginning, spirit. Friends came together and did all they could to show they had the most spirit and confidence in their school.

-Mehgan Carter

Good Luck
Next Year!!
Class from:
Elijah
2007 Standing

Nacho Spirit Paint
Aubry
2007
Stephanie

Junior 2006
Seniors
Cottoguille representin'
RIP Design
Borochy boys keep smilin'

class of 2006
Winnie the Pooh
SENIOR COUGARS
HOSA

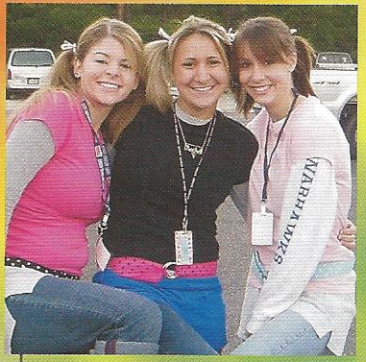

Victory
Army Girl? Camp follower?
Malibu Barbie
"Beyoncé's kid" & Michelle 2007

Sophomore Melissa Desantiago on the left
"This was my first spirit week at the high school, which made it special, plus my sister winning homecoming queen topped everything off."

Sophomore Justin Ritter
"I like Spirit Week because it lets me be loud and crazy, it lets me show my true colors."

Junior Rachel Culpepper
"Alex, Liza, and I had alot of fun trying to be tacky in a cute way."