

High Hopes

Digging Right In

With the preparation of a new year, the girls volleyball team practiced Monday through Thursday for a hour and forty five minutes each day. Not only did the practices call for hard work and dedication, it also required the support and encouragement of the team. "To inspire our teammates, everyone stays positive and trys to keep everyone up, even if they didn't have a good play," junior Lauren McLees said.

Waiting to attack, the girl's volleyball team stands at attention as the opposing team makes their first move. The girls played the game to their advantage. "Everyone worked really hard, the score just didn't show it," junior Lauren McLees said.

Showing sportsmanship, senior Katandra Wilson and junior Tabitha Spahn sets a play as the defending team serves. Both the players showed enthusiasm throughout the game. "Usually I try to give spirit and pep everyone during the game," junior Tabitha Spahn said.

Serving the ball, Natasha Gilliard gives it her all. As a team player, Natasha displays a lot of dedication and talent. "The teamwork got better as the year progressed," senior Natasha Gilliard said.

Planning their attack, the girls huddle up to make a plan. "If we had more team support, believe it would benefit us," junior Tabitha Spahn said.
