

Blue, Silver and White. We've got spirit all right !

Spirit week

Did you participate in Spirit Week?

Bring on some of that true blue spirit! Noted as the week before Homecoming, Spirit Week had always been a tradition for the students of Colleton County High School for generations. The students had always enjoyed this week because it had been just about the only week the students didn't have to abide by the dress code, and dress funny, Tacky, down right wacky, and of course, showing that true Blue Cougar Pride, and even more, getting to pretend to be something or someone different every day of the week. "It's really fun getting to participate in spirit week, because I don't dress like this everyday," junior Magali Soto said.

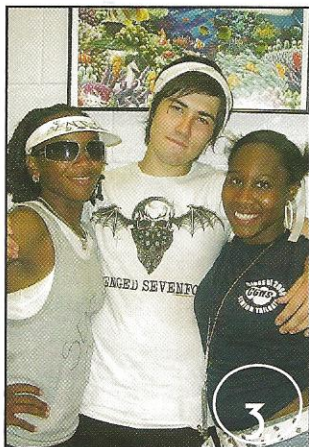

- Caitlin Cottingham

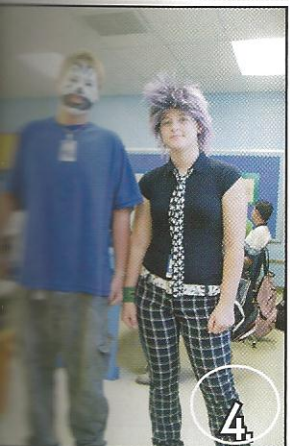

1.

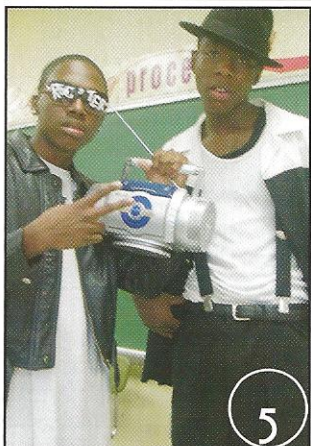

2.

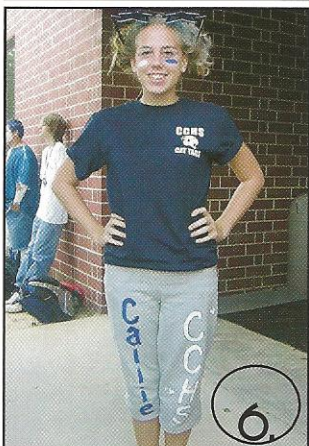

3.

4.

5.

6.

1. Seniors Melissa Chesire, Meghan Carter, Daniel Campbell and Callie O'Connor rocked it out at the 2007 tailgate party. "The tailgate party was so much fun, I have waited years to be able to participate in the tailgate party," senior Melissa "Missy" Chesire said.

2. Taylor Douglas sported her school spirit at the homecoming game on Friday night. "It was great getting to show my school spirit this week," freshmen Taylor said.

3. Lauren Sherrill relaxed with a couple of friends in the halls during spirit week. "Spirit week was a great way to express your true personality and support our football team in a very fun way", senior Lauren said.

4. freshman Terrence Wilson hung out with a friend during class. "I had a lot of fun, especially since the person I got to dress as is a person I really admire," Terrence said.

5. Sophomores Raheem Thrower and Kawone Winter rocked their geometry class on rock star/retro day. "I had a great time dressing up on rock star/retro day because I am a big fan of the 50's and 60's styles and it was nice to be someone different for a change," Raheem said.

6. Senior Callie O'Connor was leaving school, but she stopped first to take a quick picture for a friend. "I really enjoyed spirit week because it gave me one last chance to really show my school spirit before I graduate," Callie said.

