

- 1) Freshmen Taylor Fox does a twist cradle coming out of her stunt. "I like stunting, because it is kind of like a roller coaster, it's a lot of fun," Taylor said.
- 2) Junior Ronniktrix Cobbs shows spirit after the cheer. "I wish we could compete because I use to do it when I was living in Atlanta Georgia," Ronniktrix said.
- 3) Senior Danielle Campbell cradles out the stunt at the football game. "I love performing for people and feeling the adrenaline rush," Danielle said.
- 4) The Cheerleaders set up in their stunts and wait for the football players to rip through the banner. "Home games are fun because you have a lot of your peeps there and it's always nice to play on your own turf," junior Courtney Ivey said.
- 5) Sophomore Ashley Dilke poses at the end of the dance during the pep rally. "I like performing dances and stunts because dances are our strongest aspect of the squad and stunting is my favorite part of cheerleading," Ashley said.

Cheerleading

A lot of people don't understand how much hard work and dedication it takes to make a good squad. Since new head coach Amanda Lucas came, things have been different. The squad has wanted to work harder to be better. They have participated in cheer camps during the summer to heighten their level of stunting and dancing. They have pushed themselves to the limit to get to where they are now. Practicing day in and day out to make sure cheers, stunts, and dance routines are perfect. They have also participated in school events more, and have had more school spirit than in the past. They worked hard to get their fellow students involved in school events, by making posters to decorate the halls and the football teams locker room. The cheerleaders put pride in every thing they do and they will continue to grow.

-Leslie Lawson

