

Voices

from

CCHS

Junior Tylar Douglas was checking out the scenery on the school patio. "My famous excuse to get out of doing homework would be, I have a headache," Tylar said.

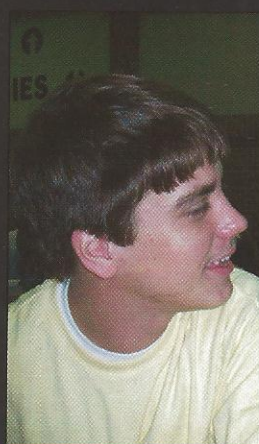

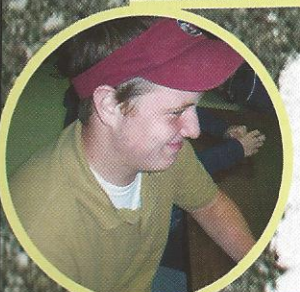

Senior Jonathan Gordan was chaffing with a few friends during lunch. "Teachers have nothing better to do then give us homework," Jonathan said.

Junior Trevor Pham, an outspoken student who believes homework is a legal form of torcher. "When I hear the word 'HOMEWORK', I think of my friend Chelsea doing finger quotations," Trevor said.

Sophomore Mason Alberts was living up his only free time during school, which is lunch. "I do my homework every night, not to mention im a straight 'A' student. Mason said"

Senior Joshua Smoak. Is a serious guy about his education but when it comes to homework he would rather do something less boring. "I think homework is a waste of my time," Josh says.

Senior Patyma Huynh, a new foriegn exchange student. "I would rather go shopping then do homework," Patyma said.

Sophomore Taylor Cunningham was hanning around the school with his close friend. "I'd rather play video games then do my homework."

Freshman Casey Hart and senior Ethan Hart were goofing around the school halls during 4th lunch. "Homework sucks, especially english homework. i never do it," Casey said. "I get way to much calculus homework, it's so aggravating. It better help me in the long run," Ethan said.

