

OMG... Homework!

The day has finally settled down and is coming to an end. In the back of your mind you have a feeling something has been left uncomplete. HOMEWORK! Did I have any? And if so, I wonder if I could get away without doing it!

Junior Anna Crosby was on her way to Mr. Cable's class, ready to learn some history. "The excuse I use when I don't have my homework is, I did my work. It's in here somewhere. I just can't find it," Anna said.

Senior Essance Griffin was working on her yearbook spread. "Teachers give us homework on the weekends so we can think about all the work we did that week," Essance said.

Junior Hunter Hart was enjoying the company of his best friends on his way to coach Dukes class. "I do my homework when I get back to school in first period," Hunter said.

Junior Keke Jones was lounging around outside during 3rd period. "The best excuse I've used was, I got wet when I set it on top of the car before heading to school," Keke said.
