

National Honor Society

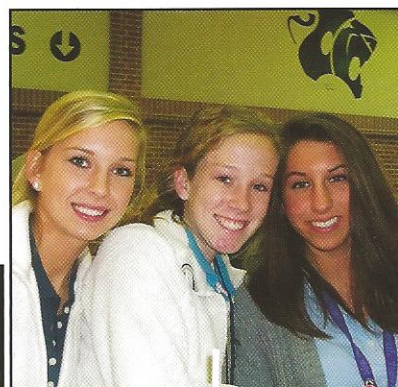

"A leader is not only someone that stands out among the crowd," says NHS president Calvin Bailey, "but someone who is able to work within it. I tried to model myself after those words this year."

Being a part of the National Honor Society at CCHS is a great accomplishment and is a great way to spend time! Through NHS, students strive to become role models by using the four core principles of NHS, which include: character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Maintaining and promoting integrity in each of these is the ultimate goal of the NHS and it's members. Even if you are not a member, the NHS encourages everyone to shine brightly by helping the surrounding community through positive community service!

After a successful induction, Allison Sanders, and Cress Rhoden, Caleigh Smoak said, "It made me feel accomplished, and I kept thinking, I hope my skirt doesn't rip."
