I-P-A, SIPA, SIPA, SIPA, HEY! The Southeastern Interscholastic Press Association's annual conference was a weekend full of fun and learning activities. Both the CatTales Yearbook staff and the Blue Print Newspaper Staff will always remember these times in their own little ways. Not only was it a Friday outside of school, but also a weekend to get to know fellow staff members and share common journalism goals for the future. Staff members attended multiple classes over the three days and gathered information and techniques to use on next year's publications. This trip was fun both inside and out of the SIPA classes, and both staff's are prepared to excited to attend SIPA 2012!
