ABOVE While in welding, sophomore Christopher Turgeon uses the blow torch. He says, "The most interesting thing about being in this house is the hands on activities and being able to be out welding instead of doing book work."

TOP RIGHT Sophomore Marquez Cannady explains to his class some very important materials to have while welding. He conveys, "I influenced myself to go into welding because I wanted to train before I got out of high school."

BOTTOM RIGHT While going over his notes before class, senior Travis Balkom said, "I am happy I was put into this house because it includes jobs that most companies are looking for."
