

Top Right: Senior Kellie Manigo has been with the drama program four years now. "My favorite part about drama is being able to be someone you are normally not". She loves how satisfying it is to perform successfully in front of people.

Top Left: Junior Charden Barnes explains "I have always wanted to be an actress." By being apart of the drama program, Charden has excelled her skills for her hopeful future in acting. Charden loved the feeling on being onstage and being able to work with her fellow drama students.

Bottom Right: Freshmen Hunter Rizer and Senior David Breland sit back and listen to the directions being given. "I have always been aquanted with drama and its aspects since i was a young child" said Hunter. He decided to attend the South Carolina governors governer school for arts and humanities summer discovery program.

Bottom Left: Sophomore Kayla Delooze gives the "thumbs up" symbol to the crowd. "The best part about the fall play is making new friends and having a great time." Kayla loves performing and loves getting advice from Mrs. Gantt.

Sophomore Brittney Sanders begins to recite her monologue in the play. "Performing feels great, even more so because i have a positive attitude" Brittney is always intrested in new things but her friend Leon Williams encouraged her to be in the play.

Sophomore Leon Williams stands proudly in his janitor costume. "I feel sort of impowered that I can find the courage to speak to others and they want to listen" He explains later how phenomal of a driector Mrs. Gantt is.

Sophomore Madison Blackwell sits and listens as her fellow cast mates tell a story. "Mrs. Gantt is a great drama teacher because of her insight and experience." Madison loves being on stage because if feels natural to her.

