JV Boys Basketball

Boom, boom clap! Boom, boom clap! Boom, boom, clap! Boom, boom clap. Cougars we will rock you! The crowd goes wild! The team didn't see themselves as just a team, but as a family. Winning shots were made on the court, as well as friendships. Basketball is more than just a sport to these players, it's the other half of their personalities, and it was in their blood. As the practices went by, and as the games came, the team still managed to make it through another season with true sportsmanship. Their main motto was "A winning heart defines a winning team."

Above Sophomore Paul Habersham states, "Basketball means excitement to me. While playing the game, I'm always excited when I make those crucial shots."

Upper Left Sophomore Richard Brown says, "I look up to Frankell Williams as a basketball player because of his confidence. No matter what, I want to be just like him basketball wise." Richard is being defensive, as he holds off his opponent.

Lower Left Sophomore Kerry Green says, "I inspired myself to play basketball because at a young age I wanted to try something new." Kerry goes in with a drive towards the net.

Bottom Left Sophomore Tristan Pontoon says, "Throughout my basketball experience, I've overcome my weakness which was dribbling. I practiced thoroughly everyday and it made me have control of the ball better."

Bottom Right The J.V. Boys Cougar Basketball team always keeps their head in the game, no matter what the outcome may be.
