Boys Varsity Basketball

Swish, the sound of the net, after shooting a game winning shot or a point much needed. The Cougar boys varsity basketball team used that sound for motivation. Going through an aggressive and sometimes rushed game the Cougars strived for victory even if victory seemed unreachable. Depending on no one but themselves and fellow teammates on the court the Cougars stuck together to make it through whatever. Senior Antwuan Gantt says, "I love playing with the team. We are all like brothers that will never be seperated." Coach Michael Tew pushed his team to bring out the best in them, and taught them to keep their heads up win or lose, and just have fun with it.

Junior Ernest Hicks gets ready to throw the game winning free shoot. "The best part about our coach is the way he fusses at us to do better" said Ernest. He later said he wants to play for Miami Heat because Lebron James plays for them.

Sophomore Jami Sanders "Basketball is a fun sport, and I enjoy playing it. Coach Tew believes in all of his players, which encourages me to play my best at all times."

Through the good and the bad, the Cougar boy basketball team will always be a close brotherhood, and the spirit of this brotherhood will never die.
