

"Nothing made me feel more accomplished than working all week to set up for a night to remember. Prom was by far the best way to end my senior year!" - Senior Morgan Seabrook

For every young person there comes a point in life where you get closer to adulthood. For some, your story may begin with going to senior prom, while for others it may simply just be going away without your parents for spring break. This year's theme for prom was, A Night to Remember. Members of the Prom Committee worked hard on this theme and were completely dedicated and passionate about making this a favorite memory to add to each student's story. Many people were expecting this prom to be a night of great wonders and mysteries. Many can and will tell you that prom was one of the best times of their life and would do anything to go back. Prom is clearly not an experience meant for everyone, but it is a great start to your story.

prom

"We do not remember days; we remember moments."

1

The 2014 Prom Court candidates anxiously wait in the lobby to be called to the dance floor. Each candidate worked tirelessly over the weeks leading up to prom to show the student body that they were the best person to represent their class as the 2014 Prom King, Prom Queen, Prom Prince, or Prom Princess.

2

Juniors Ashton Cannady and Nadia Bowlin take a moment to let their wins as Prom Prince and Prom Princess sink in before taking a spin on the dance floor.

3

Seniors Andrew Hammonds and Jordyn Litchfield pose as 2014 Prom King and Queen.