"NHS has definitely helped me gain some leadership skills and helped me get out of my comfort zone." - Senior Kelson Crosby

member confessions
HOW HAS NHS IMPACTED YOU?

"NHS has inspired me to get a higher education and has helped my leadership skills."
-Senior Shelby Powell

"NHS makes me want to do more community service, and I think it's a great way to keep in touch with our community!"
-Junior Meagan Mitchell

"I have grown to appreciate the act of volunteering. Taking time out of my day to participate in such a worthy and helpful cause has brought great joy to me."
-Senior Roberto Lugo

"Being part of NHS has inspired me to be more active in the community because it shows that your help can really make a difference."
-Senior Jamie Hiott

"NHS made me realize how much community service is needed in this town."
-Senior Tina Zhou

Throughout the years, millions of students in more than 20,000 public and private schools have been admitted as members of the National Honor Society. The National Honor Society is a prestigious organization that recognizes exceptional capabilities in scholarship, leadership, character, and service. NHS sought to help students improve upon these areas even further by completing selfless community service and letting students participate in leadership roles. The students that took part in the National Honor Society told their own stories by participating in these community events and helped to better their community. Some of the events that students participated in during the year were community events such as Adopt a Highway, Empty Bowls, Polo for the Point, and various other events that improved the community as a whole. Students in the organization also volunteered to do other things such as tutor or help teachers on their own time, which ultimately taught them discipline. The students of NHS worked hard each year not only for themselves, but for the school and community as a whole.