Trainers & Coaches

Coach Markatine, varsity quarterback coach and the offensive coordinator, had many goals for the football season. Two of his main objectives were to win every game they played and to make the students the best student athletes they could possibly be.

Coach Roger Gantt, head coach of JV softball, is also a part of the Cougar family. "It's been great coaching the JV softball team for the last two seasons. As a team, we set the goal to show improvement from the previous year. I look forward to another year of improving our softball program."

Coach Amber Gantt takes over our varsity softball team, and she has high expectations. "In my first year, I want to bring in a new era of softball to Colleton County High School; an era that combines some of the old traditions as well as starting some new traditions. As a team, our number one goal is to go back to the playoffs as well as winning our region."

Behind the scenes at Colleton County High School you'll find the dedicated coaches and trainers that make victory and success possible. All of these individuals have a huge impact on student athletes and the general school environment. This year, many new coaches, as well as our new athletic trainer, joined CCHS. From kicking off the fall season with three new volleyball coaches to sliding home in the spring season with two new softball coaches, each new addition to CCHS hoped to reach their goals throughout the seasons. Having so many coaches taking time out of their days to work with our athletes was such an honor. While several new football coaches helped lead the best season in the past four years, we also had a new basketball coach hoping to do the same. Without their time and dedication, our sports programs would not be where it is today.

"We made improvements, not exactly what we wanted, but a step in the right direction." -Coach Owens, varsity football offensive line
