

"Being on the team helps give me another source of family because we all support each other in everything." - Junior Jessie Crandall #6

The Colleton County High School Boys' Varsity Soccer team stayed motivated throughout the 2014 season. Even though the reasons they joined the team are all different, they all ended up in the same place. Although they had some rough times, they stayed together as a team to make this season a success. For these boys, it did not matter if they won or lost, they would stick together as a team. Throughout the season, the limits of the boys were tested. Having to work hard during every game, there was little rest. There were days when none of the boys wanted to play or practice because they were so tired. However, the boys stayed dedicated to the team and worked hard to get what they wanted.

2 Sophomore Shelton Reynolds #24 fights for the ball in order to help his team in the game. Shelton said, "I like to play soccer because it helps me be more social and helps me mentally."
