Teamwork is one of the key factors in basketball. It takes intelligence, commitment, confidence, leadership, passion, communication, and integrity to be a basketball player. Becoming a part of the basketball team doesn't make you just a basketball player, it make you a brother and friend that everyone on the team can count on. The team becomes your family, the court becomes your home, and the basketball becomes your friend.

Sophomore Jeremiah Monroe (#4) charges towards the basket for two more CCHS points.

Playing defense, Sophomore Jermaine Parker (# 11) hustles down the court as he keeps his eyes on the ball the entire time, watching for the opportunity to get the ball back.

Sophomore Alex Sherrill says his favorite quote is from NBA's Stephen Curry: "Be the best version of yourself in anything you do. You don't have to live anybody else's story."

Top: After having an amazing start and a strong fight throughout the game, the JV Cougars show how confident they are when a shot made with seconds to go makes it through the net.

Bottom: Sophomore Daquan Bryant (# 10) gets the chance to shoot a free throw after getting fouled. Daquan takes a deep breath, looks at the goal, and sets up a scoring shot.
