

Wow! VARSITY BASEBALL

The Colleton County Varsity Cougars Baseball team show their cougar pride as they loudly cheer for their team members at their first game of the season.

Baseball is a good sport to help teens improve physical fitness and build lasting friendships. It also improves skills such as communication, team work, and problem solving. Baseball tends to help people feel confident and come out of their shells, as well as showing that success does not come from just one team member doing a good job, but from the team as a whole. The Colleton County High School Varsity Cougar Baseball team hopes to demonstrate all of these skills throughout the season.

Senior pitcher Tyler Bell (#16) practices his super sonic pitch for the next game against the Cobras.

WHOOSH

Senior pitcher Alan Grym (#3) throws a fierce curveball with a mission to strike out his opponent with the crowd in a roar as he succeeds.

Senior Ethan Bryan (#7) waits patiently for the right moment to dash towards second base and on towards home plate.

Left: Junior Chase Hadwin (#5), steps up to the base as he readies himself to strike the ball with his super strength.

KAPOW!

Right: Junior Jackson Morelli (#8) goes for the ball with his super speed, hoping to throw it in field before the competition makes it to safety at home plate.
