

Winter Guard

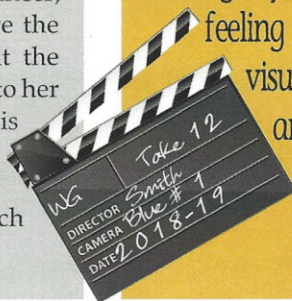

TOSSING HIGH HOPES FOR THE SEASON

Winter Guard is an activity where students learn to become performers through dance and spinning pieces of equipment. Under the instruction of Ms. Tracy Smith, the CCHS County High School Winter Guard is reaching new standards and challenges. Even though the team has had intense practices throughout the season, their hard work, dedication, and ambition helped their performance become breathtaking. This year, the show is entitled "Finding my way home". Emphasizing on the feeling of regret and passion, the team visualized their past experiences and strived to be better performers. "Strong is always beautiful" is the instructor, Ms. Tracy Smith's motto.

NO GOING BACK

The beginning of the performance is initiated by the featured dancer, Senior Jada Priester. Before the show begins, she glares at the audience before she gets into her first pose. She says, "Guard is like having twenty sisters. We all fight, but at the end of the day we have each other's back."

FINDING OUR WAY

The Winter Guard team gets into starting position as they wait for the music to bring their show to life.

HEAD HELD HIGH

Towards the end of their performance, Senior Ja'Niah Francis takes a moment to breathe and engage with the judges.
