

Spirit Of

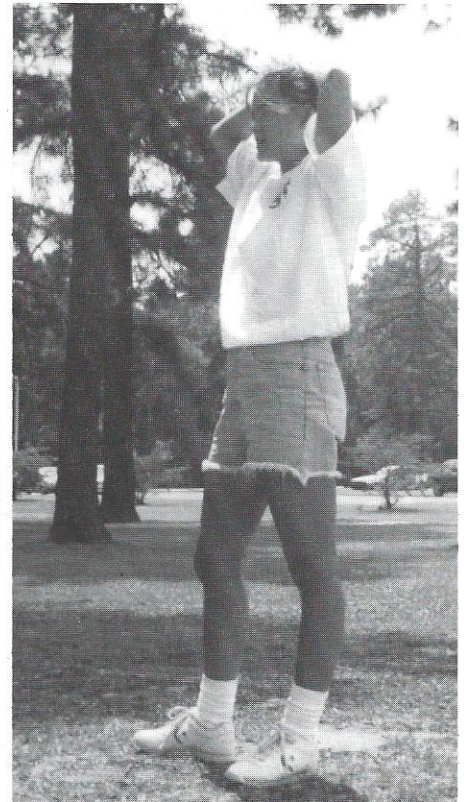

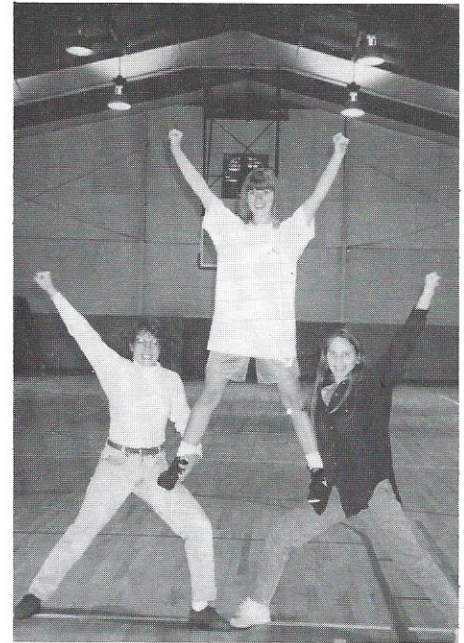

FIRE

The 1993 Varsity Cheerleading Squad was dedicated to its responsibilities. Practicing twice a week, they prepared for cheerleading camp held at Coastal Carolina College in Myrtle Beach. "We had a great time," stated Amy Godley. "Our work really paid off." They won several awards for their spirit.

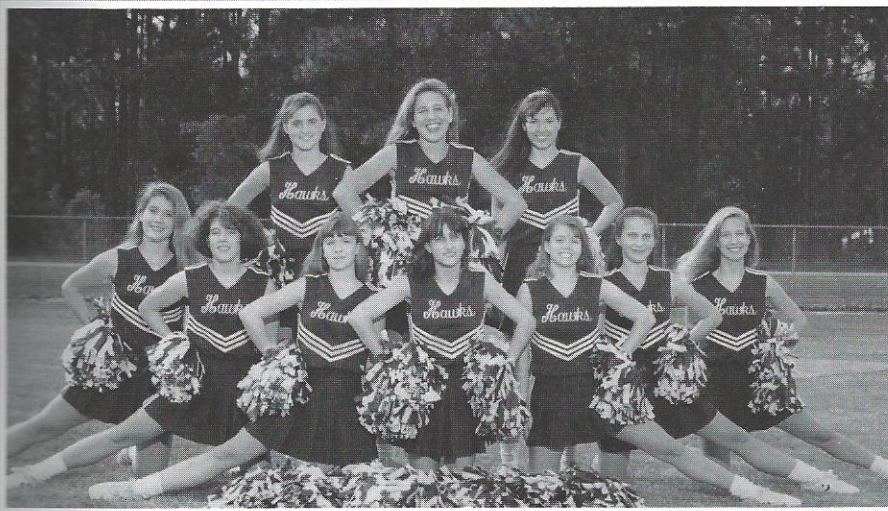

When the cheerleaders weren't practicing, they were painting the cheerleading stand, selling ribbons, or face tattoos on Friday mornings. To keep the students full of spirit, the cheerleaders made posters to decorate the walls, not only for the football team, but for all of the teams at CPA. They also worked hard on the pep rallies held during sixth period before home games. "The cheerleaders mean a lot to the football team. Even if we are playing badly, they are always trying to keep our spirits up," said Gene Alderman.

The cheerleaders also hosted the Jamboree, in which several squads competed. "We were involved in everything," said Angie Sweat.

Stephanie Padgett, Holly Griffith and Carmon Valentine practice their pyramid before the next game.
