

Playing As A

TEAM

The Varsity Boys' Basketball Team will soon look back on the 1993-94 season as Unforgettable. Although small in number, these boys pulled together to win the 1994 State Championship. During practice, the Varsity Hawks sharpened their skills and learned play after play to enable them to defeat their opponents. However, what really brought them to victory was their undying devotion to the game. The team members were always seen in the weight room and in the gym on the weekends for extra practices. Although there were a few close games in which the crowd was kept on the edge of their seats, the Hawks almost always pulled away with the victory. As Coach Barry Morehead said, "I knew I had a good team when the members ceased being separate ball players and became one unit, composed entirely of teamwork and devotion." The team worked especially well offensively, scoring an average of 60 points a game, while their defense was equally effective with a high number of steals and rebounds. What teamwork!

Before the game, the Warhawk fans form a tunnel and pump up their enthusiasm. Garner Regenovich and Brandon Hiott lead the pack. Warm-ups are a big part of the team's game strategy.

Wes Pye mentally prepares for the foul shot while teammate Shaw Regenovich takes a break from the fast paced game. Meanwhile, Brandon Hiott has as easy conversation with his opponent.

"We had something similar to magic — teamwork. It was an honor to be part of it."
— S. Regenovich

"Basketball is a fun sport because it is non-stop action and you can participate whether you are playing or not."
— Patrick Ritter
