

A Lot Of Hard

WORK

The Junior Varsity Boys' basketball team had some tough opponents this year. Fortunately the Hawks were a strong team with some experience. They only lost one player to the Varsity Hawks, and a few decided against playing at all. The core team knew how to work together because they had been playing together so long.

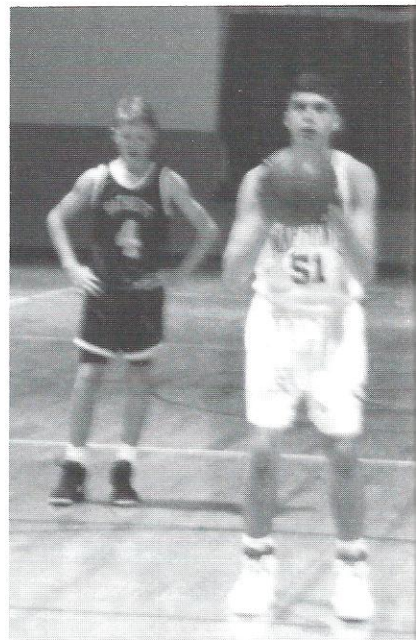

The JV Hawks were pleased with the results of their efforts, despite the losses. "No one's perfect; we really expected the losses more than the wins," stated Michael Wood.

As the Varsity team looks forward to the new players next season, the Junior Varsity players hate to see their key sophomore players leave. Next year the Junior Varsity team will be young and inexperienced because of their lack of playing time this year. "I hate to see next season come. We will have to work a lot harder to get a good record," said Hunter White. Next season will be a rebuilding season for Coach Morehead and The JV Hawks.

Jarred Sumner concentrates on making a foul shot to get an extra point for the Hawks.

Joe McConnell searches for an open teammate to throw the ball to. The Hawks have to be slick to get around those guards.

"I had fun playing with my friends and I can't wait to play again next season"
