

At the induction ceremony held in April each year, NHS members vow their allegiance to the organization's high ideals.

"Not only is it a great honor for me to be in NHS, but it is also a huge responsibility," said Senior Amy Godley.

These new National Honor Society members were inducted during a ceremony held in the spring.

The National Honor Society officers took time out of their busy schedules to pose for a picture.

