Talon '95

For most people associated with CPA, school activities never end. Even during the summer, staff prepares for the up-coming year. Football players begin to lift weights and practice. The cheerleaders prepare for the Jamboree Competition. Also, many organizations such as Student Council establish their agendas.

But everyone has learned that working over the summer has its advantages: by working together, both students and teachers can KEEP IN TOUCH.

During a summer meeting, Mrs. Brightwell discusses the yearly agenda with Student Council officers: Henry Sauls, Stephanie Padgett, Ashleigh Padgett, and Amy Godley.

Mrs. Armentrout and Miss Litchfield sift through decorations to spice up their rooms before the start of the school year.

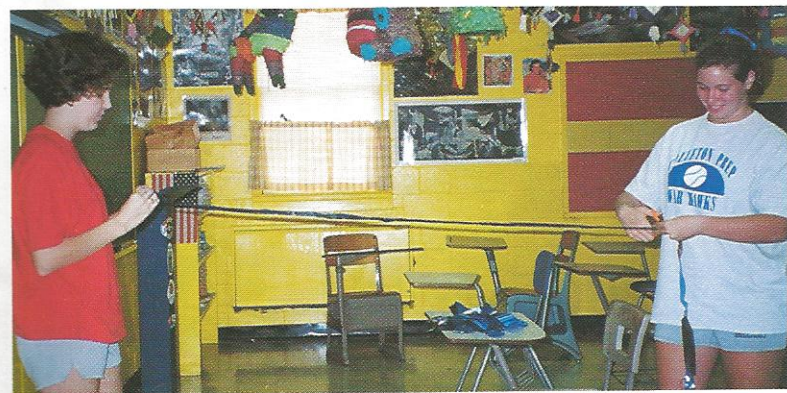

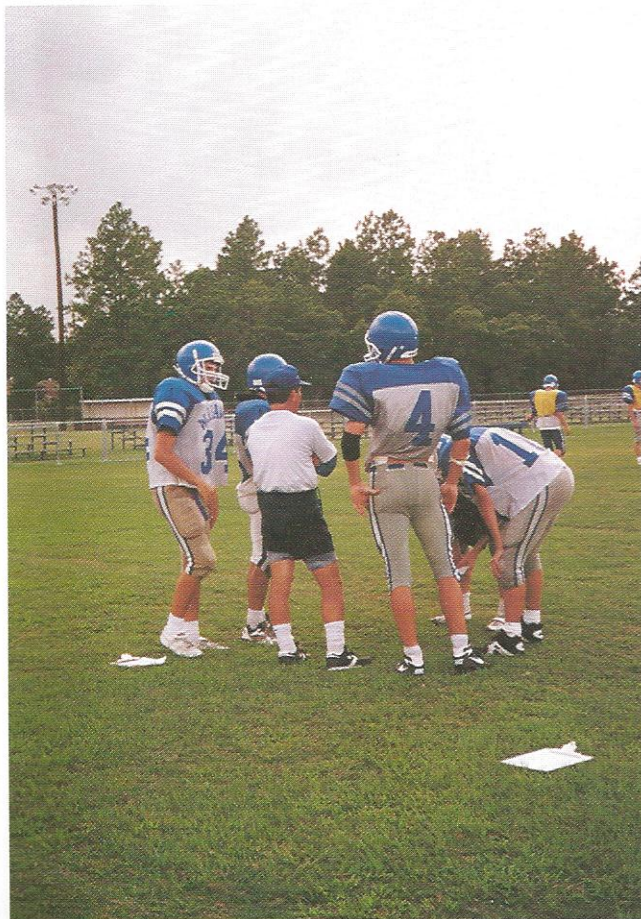

Mrs. Litchfield and Mrs. Beach, the school's bookkeeper and secretary, respectively, get organized for the upcoming school year.

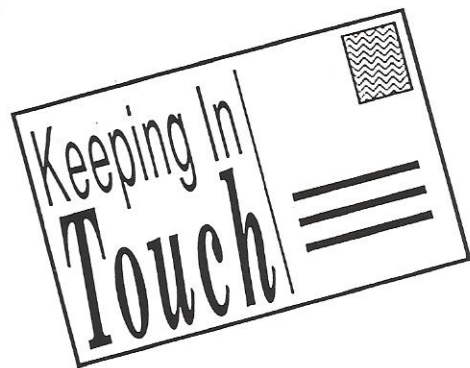

The varsity cheerleaders paint posters for the football Jamboree.

The arrival of Coach Bob Stein inspired new vigor in the football team. They also learned that hard work and dedication are important.

Volunteers Melissa Craven and Nicole Robertson assist the YAB by decorating the halls for orientation.

Friends Forever

From the day we walked into our kindergarten class until graduation day, we will have always been together. We've shared everything: the good and the bad, the laughing and crying. From clothes to homework to secrets, we've always been together.

The Class of 1995 has never been without a friend. Someone has always been there to lend a shoulder, an ear, and to give a hug or a smile.

What will we do next year without our friends? Deep in our hearts we all know that we will never be alone because we'll always have a friend in the Class of 1995.

The Class of 1995 has always been blessed with great teachers. Five years ago, this year's seniors bid farewell to Mrs. Speaks, their seventh grade homeroom teacher.

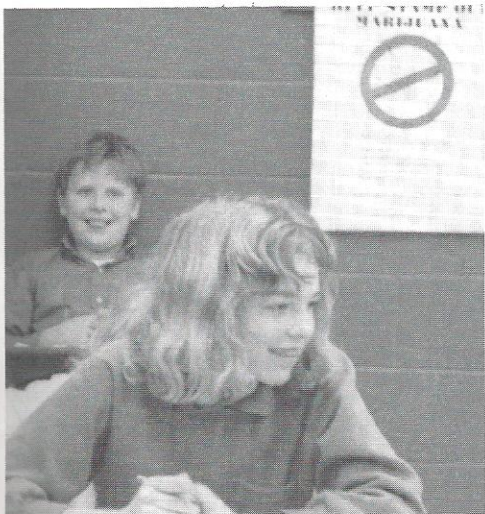

Jamie Floyd, outdoorsman, showcases his high-flying acrobatic abilities on a playground swingset.

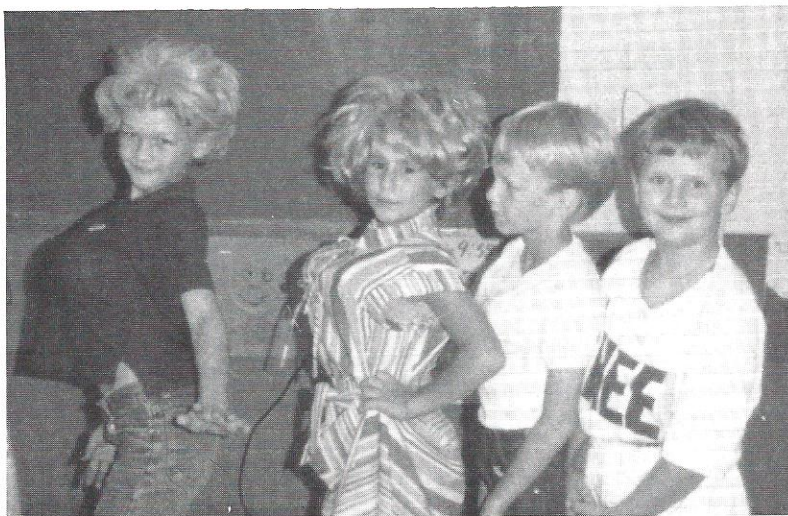

Many of the longtime friendships established within the class began on the playground. Lolly Oswald flashes a smile, while Kimberly Smith provides Carmon Valentine and Jennifer Mixson with the latest third grade gossip.

Taking a moment to relax, Ashley Woodard and Wanda Herndon regroup during a stressful class.

From the fall of 1985: Spirit Week brings out the wild side in people, even as early as the third grade. Wes Pye and Brandon Hiott drag out their best threads, as Patrick Ritter and Ashley Woodard wonder what's become of their classmates.

My Special Friend

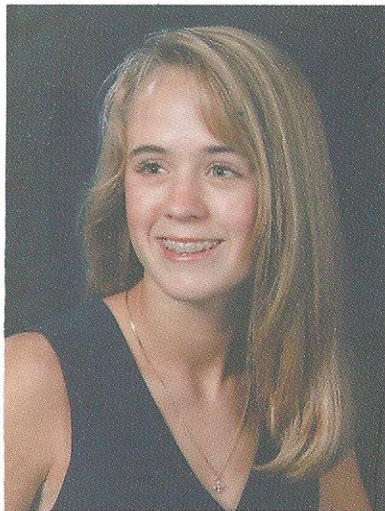

*Once in a while a friend comes along.
 You learn how to laugh and you learn to be strong.
 You invest all your time for you know this may be
 That one special friend you needed to see.
 You share all your days and you grow to be friends.
 You know each others heart from the love that it sends.
 You take time to listen to the words inside,
 And each one understands that there is nothing to hide.
 You are a part of my life you see.
 You mean so very much to me.
 You came along and that's when I knew
 That I had found my special friend in you.*

Spring of '87. Shelby Trippe, Leigh Ann Bennett, Jamie Floyd, Brandon Hiott, and Lisa Gentry take a break while waiting on the others.

"Our Senior year is great, finally we get to have all the privileges like good parking places and early lunches. We also get to look forward to graduation and choosing colleges." — Jon Baggett

"The worst thing about the Senior year is making all those decisions about what we're going to do after graduation. Filling out college applications is not a fun job!" — Wanda Herndon.

You Touched My Heart

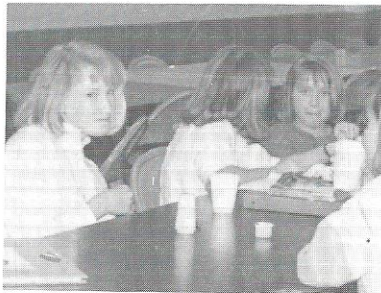

During their eighth-grade year, Amy Godley, Lolly Oswald, and Carmon Valentine still enjoyed Halloween festivities.

With mischievous grins, Wes Pye and Chad Rowe invaded Fort Sumter in 1991.

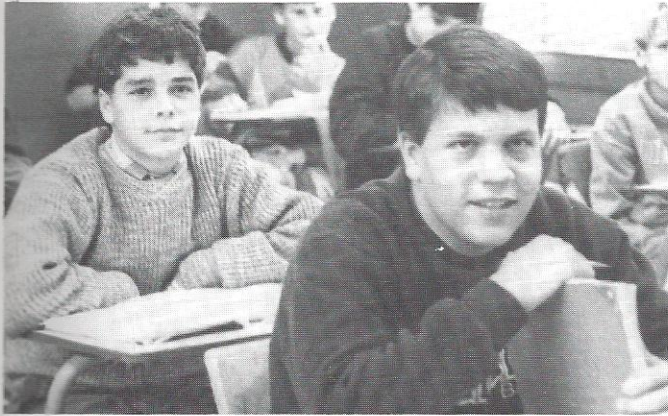

Cafeteria Food is "Mm, Mm, Good!" Shelby Trippe and friends find time to study and eat during lunch period.

Always a close group, the Gals of '95 gather at Fort Sumter in 1991.

Perry Hunt and Jon Baggett concentrate on the lesson of the day. Many seniors plan to continue their studies in college after graduation.

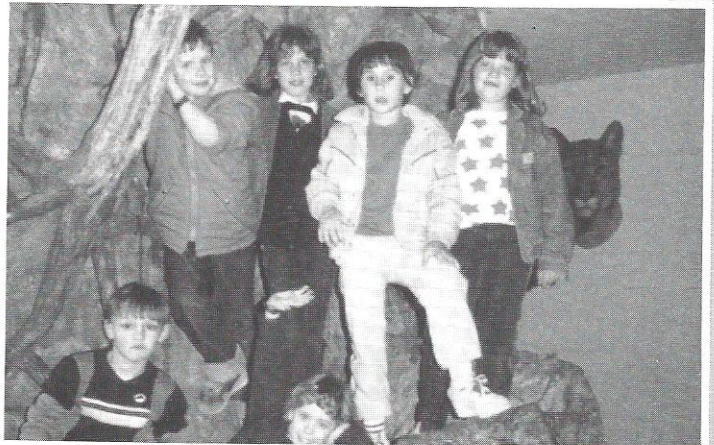

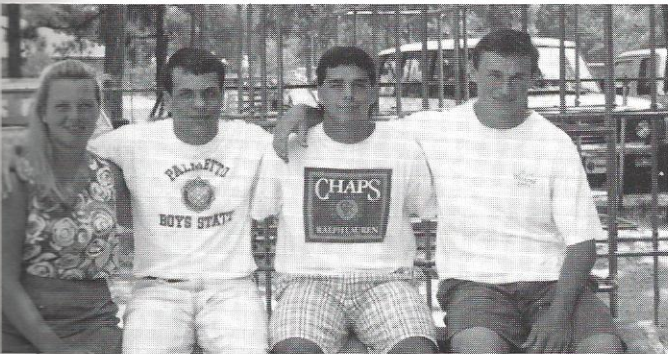

Stephanie Padgett relaxes from her sight-seeing at Fort Sumter.

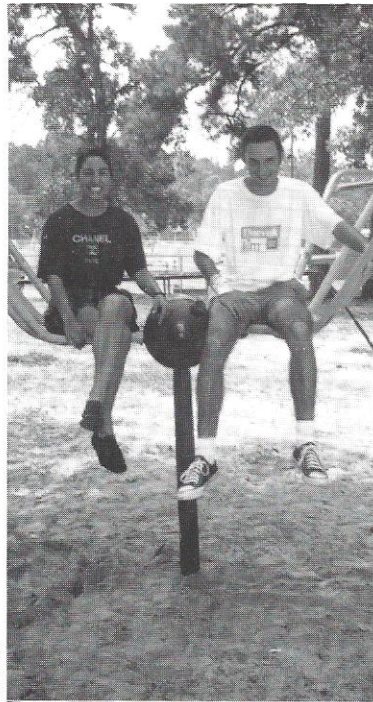

Ashley W., Kimberly S., Brandon H., Jennifer M., Wes P., and Laurel Anne O. answer the call of the wild.

Class officers for the 1994-95 school year: President, Wes Pye; Vice President, Jon Baggett; Secretary-Treasurer, Jennifer Mixson; and Representative, Perry Hunt.

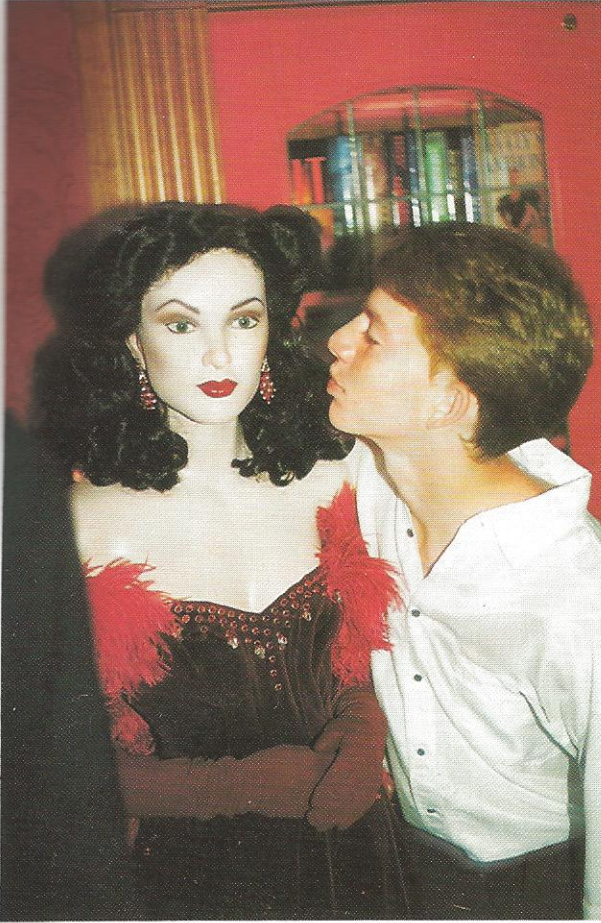

I have never found the words to say
 How I feel for you
 Perhaps I'll see you far away
 But now our time is through
 Somewhere down the Road
 Our paths will cross again
 Wherever you roam
 You'll have a home
 In my arms my friend.
 If you begin to give in
 Or break down under the bad
 You know I care
 I'll see you there
 Somewhere down the Road
 I know you must be going now
 I call out your name
 I don't know why, I don't know how Goodbye Always Feels the Same

The perfect blend of strength and beauty. The senior football players and cheerleaders join together in a unique display of unity.

Although they have been with us for only a few years, Milu Vilchez and Andrej Setrajic are still part of our close-knit family.

Nathan, NO PDA!! In the Gone With the Wind Library, Nathan Hinz kisses his favorite Southern Belle, Scarlet O'Hara.

In the Star's Bar, Patrick Ritter and Perry Hunt socialize with the legendary Marilyn Monroe and teen-idol James Dean.

Final impressions. Lolly Oswald leaves her hand prints on the cruise ship's deck doors.

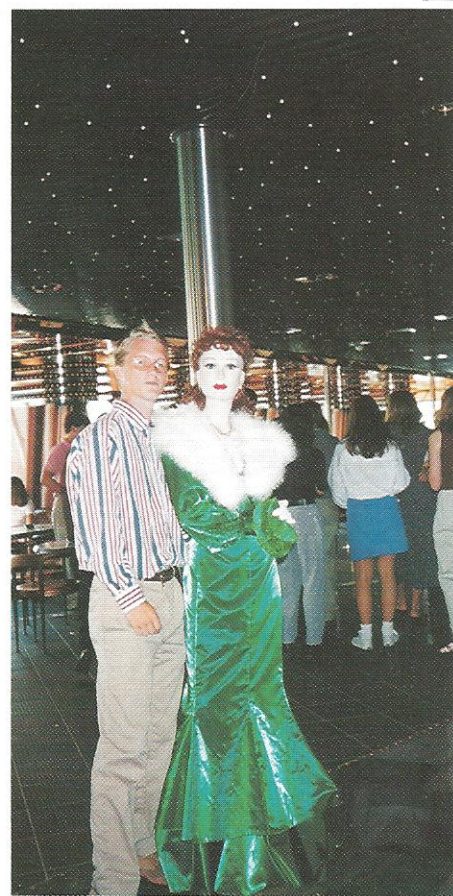

Table for two. Jennifer Mixson and Amy Godley anticipate a luscious meal.

The Senior class cruised to Charleston on Thursday, Sept. 22, for their annual yearbook photo day. Aboard the Carnival Cruise Lines' newest ship, docked at the State Ports Authority, the members of the Class of '95 toured the ocean liner, enjoyed lunch and posed for photographs. The seniors express their gratitude to Sybil Youcum of Charleston Travel, Mrs. Folk, and Mr. Quarles for their generosity and cooperation in making the trip possible.

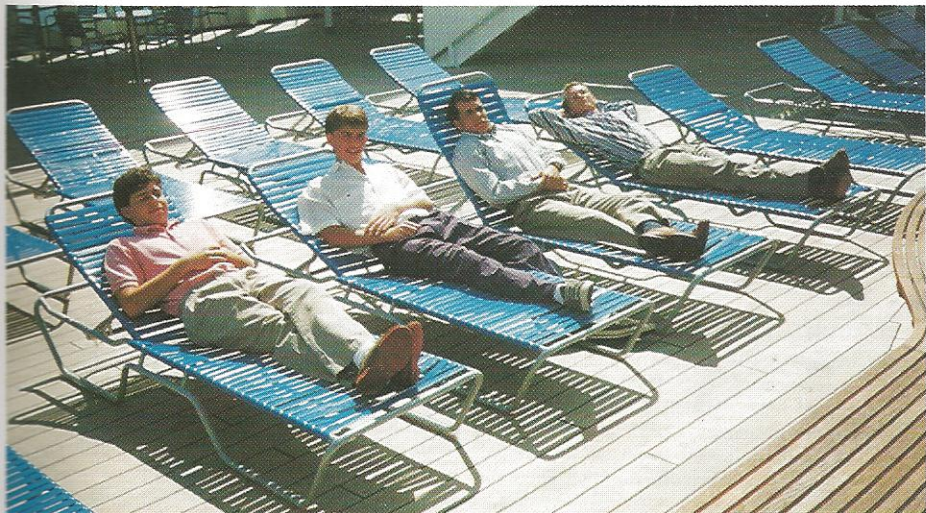

A fascinating group. Members of the senior class arrive at the sun-soaked deck at the completion of their tour.

Redheads have more fun, as Patrick Ritter found out when he met Lucille Ball. Cute couple, aren't they?

CONGRATULATIONS GRADS

Senior "Sun Gods" Bill Carter, Nathan Hinz, Jon Baggett, and Patrick Ritter experiment with a new type of sunscreen — clothing.

Leigh Ann Bennett and Lisa Gentry await their chance to ask questions about the ship.

ELEVENTH GRADE

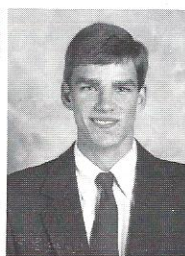

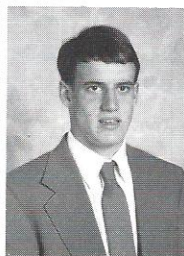

OUT OF TIME

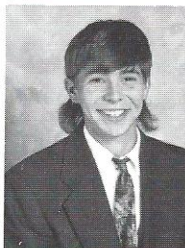

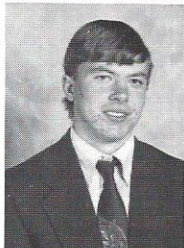

All year long the eleventh grade could be found hard at work. Whether working on decorations for the Homecoming Dance and prom or building the Haunted House, they had fun. Learning to work together, the Juniors had several successful fundraisers.

Once again, the Ed-Op conference was held at Walterboro High School. The Juniors and Seniors attended this informative session. Kaci Nelson commented, "It gave me the opportunity to talk with representatives from various colleges and universities. I learned a lot about what I was looking for in a college and how I should prepare myself."

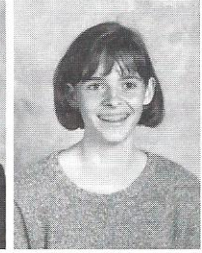

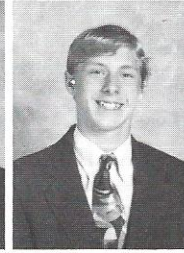

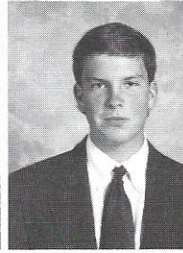

On THE MOVIE

This year brought many challenges for these tenth graders. They took many difficult subjects, such as geometry, biology, and typing. Many of the sophomores were involved in clubs, including YAB and Student Council, and some of them participated in sports.

Being a sophomore meant turning fifteen for most of the students. At this age, they took a written and driving test so that they could get their driver's license. "Being able to drive has given me new freedoms I have never had before," said Melissa Craven. "I can't wait until I am sixteen so that I can drive at night."

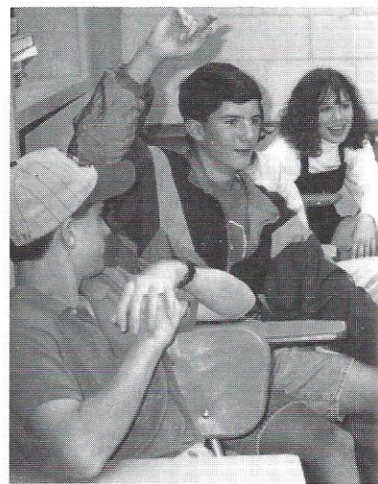

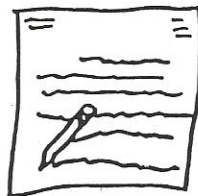

NINTH GRADE

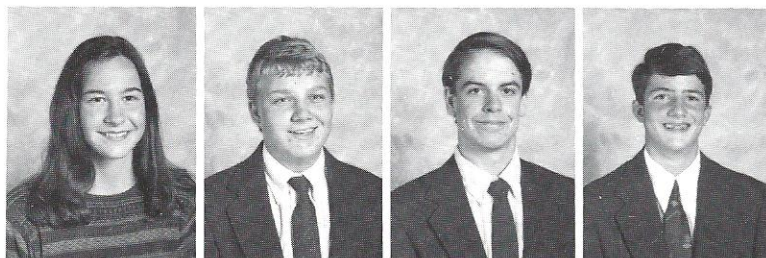

NO WAY OUT

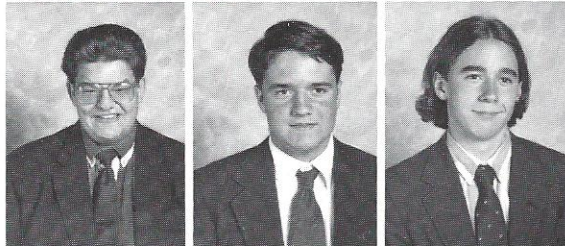

Advancing to the ninth grade was an adventure providing new challenges for these eighteen students. Becoming a part of high school, they were able to participate in a wider variety of organizations. The class also attended the play Romeo and Juliet in the fall.

As a part of their Literature class, the freshman class attended the play Romeo and Juliet at the Garden Theater on King Street. Amy Joyner replied, "The play was pretty good. I also liked going to the mall afterwards and eating lunch."

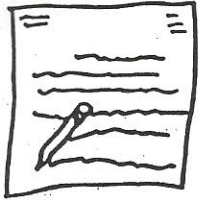

At the class's Spanish Christmas party, Hunter White attempts to break the pinata. He probably wants to eat the candy inside of it.

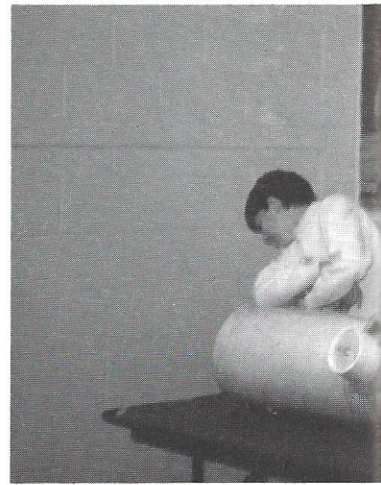

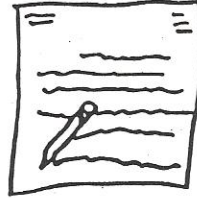

Before the late bell rings, Rodney Bridge and Scott Carter walk rapidly to their next class in Mrs. Folk's room.

EIGHTH GRADE

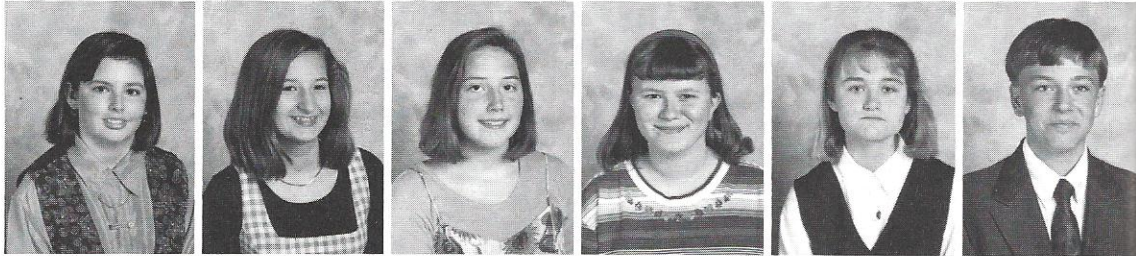

READY TO GO

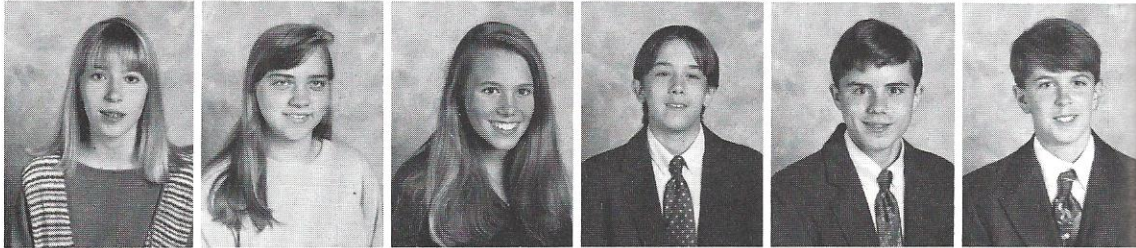

In their last year of middle school, the eighth grade found that there was much to do. In addition to the regular curriculum, a more difficult subject, algebra, was included. The students also won a pizza party for having the longest Spirit Chain.

Being in sixth grade brought on new challenges for the students. As a part of Mrs. Speaks's class they were given the opportunity to get extra credit. "We had to write a research paper that began with the words 'Turn on the Tap'," said Stacey Rodgers.

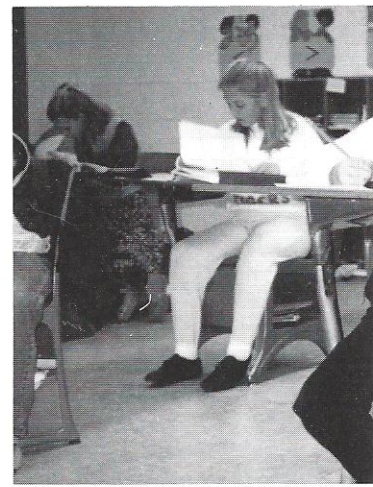

While their teacher is out of the room, Kevin Dennis, J.R. Beach and Tyler White discuss what they are going to do after school.

Ashley Smith and Ashley Pugliese complete the canteen orders during homeroom in Mrs. Speaks's class. This was the first year the students did the lunch orders by themselves.

FIFTH GRADE

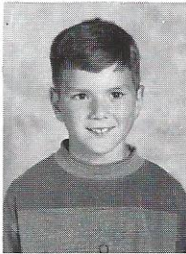

OUT ON TOP

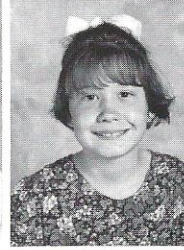

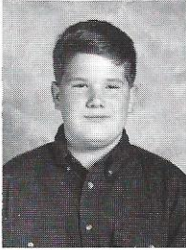

As the oldest class in the lower school, the fifth grade, taught by Mrs. Smoak and Ms. Kropff, enjoyed many activities. Adjusting early, the students changed classes once a day. They also visited Dralle farm and made an Indian village for social studies.

FOURTH GRADE

MOVING ALONG

This exciting fourth grade class seemed to be constantly fulfilling projects, such as reading The Sign of the Beaver, making guide books to teach children how to read, and going on field trips. They went to Low Country Greenhouses, Bluff Trail, and a plantation.

Throughout the year, the third grade went on several field trips, including ones to the State Museum and the Ports Authority. "At the Ports Authority in Charleston, we got to see containers loaded onto the big ships to be sent to other countries," stated Tanner Buntun. "Afterwards, we ate lunch at McDonald's." Visiting the Ports Authority helped the third grade students understand what they learned in social studies.

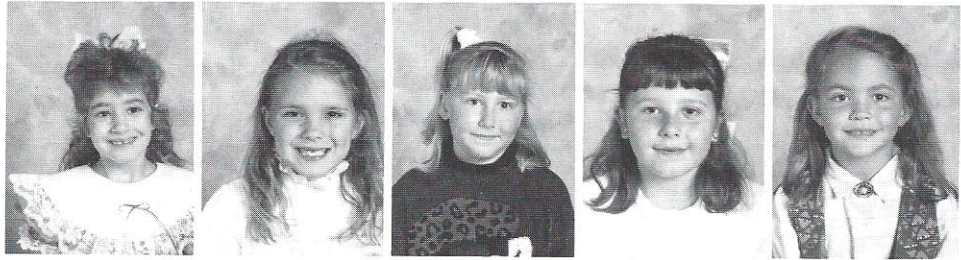

ON THEIR WAY

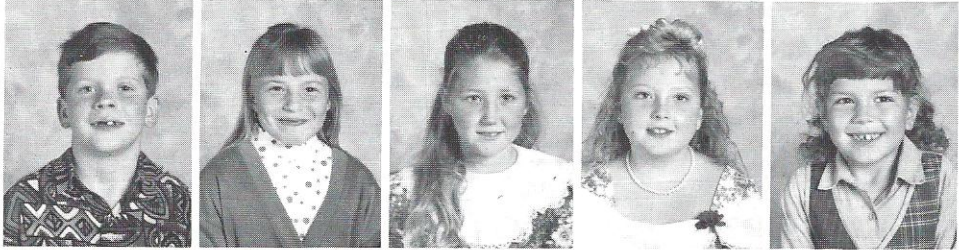

During their second year, these kids faced new challenges that they had never faced before. This year they learned many new things such as multiplication and division. They also learned how to write in cursive letters. These children also went on many field trips.

Though the second grade went on several other field trips, visiting Dralle Farm was one of the favorites.

Student Life

The Spirit. The 'boro.
The Friendship.
The Parties. The Traditions.
The Memories.

Prom night is a highlight for many students: a transformation from the ordinary to the elegant.

PAUSE TO REMEMBER

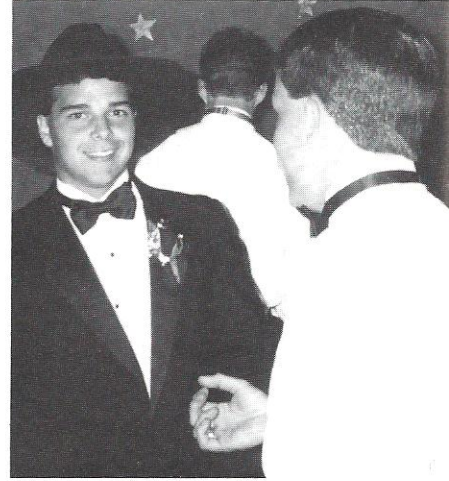

29 APRIL, 1994, CREATES UNFORGETTABLE MEMORIES

FOR JUNIORS AND SENIORS, "ONCE UPON A DREAM."

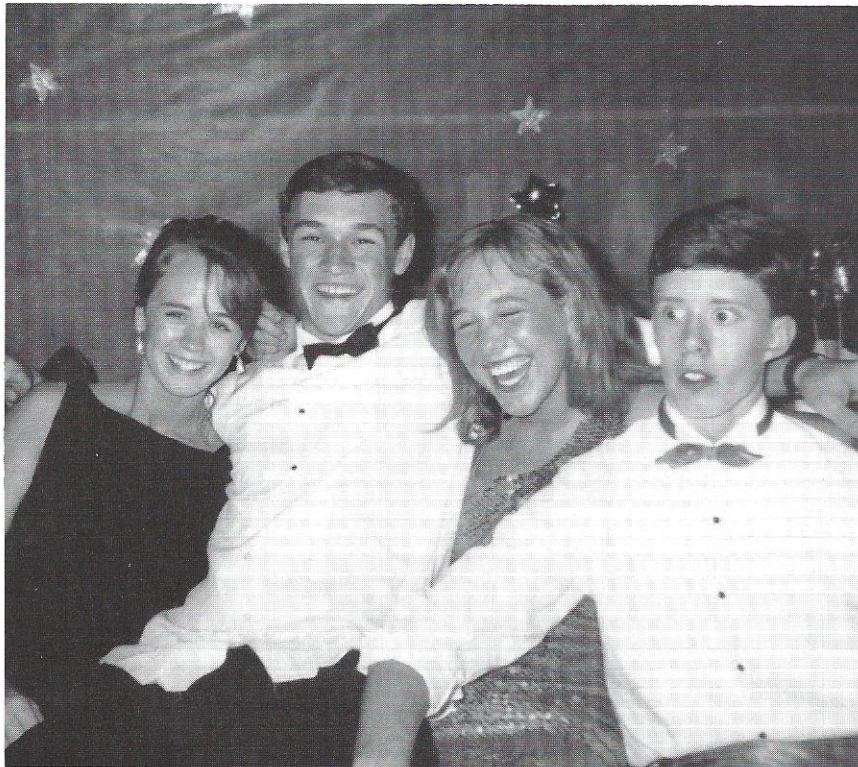

These Juniors put the finishing touches on the castle to make this prom a dream come true.

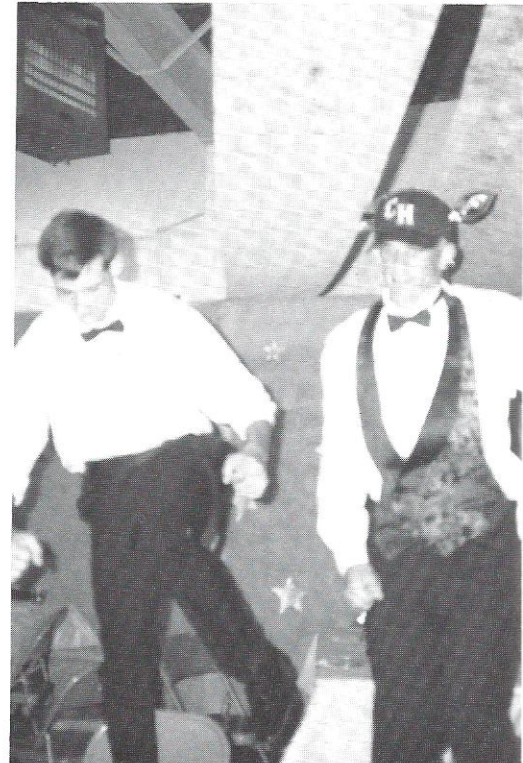

April 29, 1994 will remain a night of great memories, wonderful times, and a dream come true for Juniors and Seniors. As the guests entered into an enchanted, magical atmosphere adorned with stars, castles, and clouds, everyone knew it would be a night to remember. This night would not have been possible without the hard work and dedication of the Junior Class. The Juniors realized the countless hours spent had created the perfect evening, that would all too soon come to an end. When looking back on this night, students will pause to remember the precious moments they shared "Once Upon A Dream."

Lolly Oswald, Wes Pye, Kimberly Smith, and Henry Sauls smile for a picture. These friends will long remember times shared and memories on this magical evening.

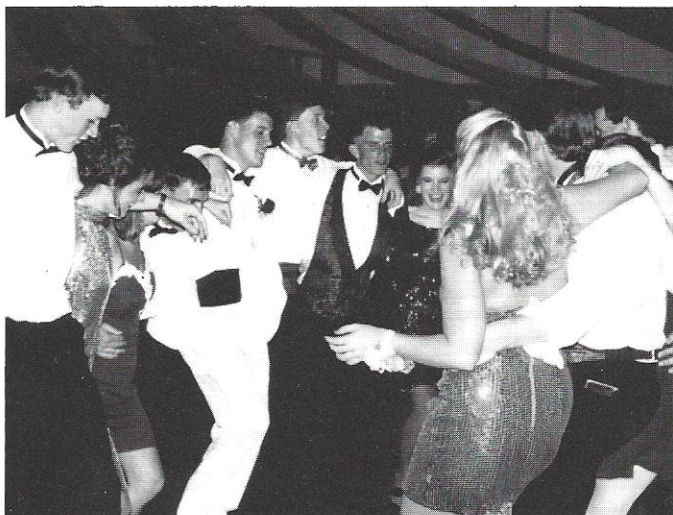

Marshall Morehead and Bert Sweat demonstrate their outstanding yet "unique" dancing ability.

Joe McConnell, Bud Herndon, Garner Regenovich, and Al Terry were chosen as ushers for the prom to ensure that the evening proceeded as planned.

This "circle of friendship" will always be cherished by these students as they dance the night away together.

This photographer takes on the difficult task of trying to organize these enthusiastic Juniors for a group picture they will treasure forever.

"We worked hard, but it was worth it to have such a great prom. I'll never forget it."

"I almost cried when I moved my tassel because I knew my high school days were over. It was sad and exciting at the same time."

— Tina Patel

"The Boys" pose for one last picture before they return to the reception hosted by the school.

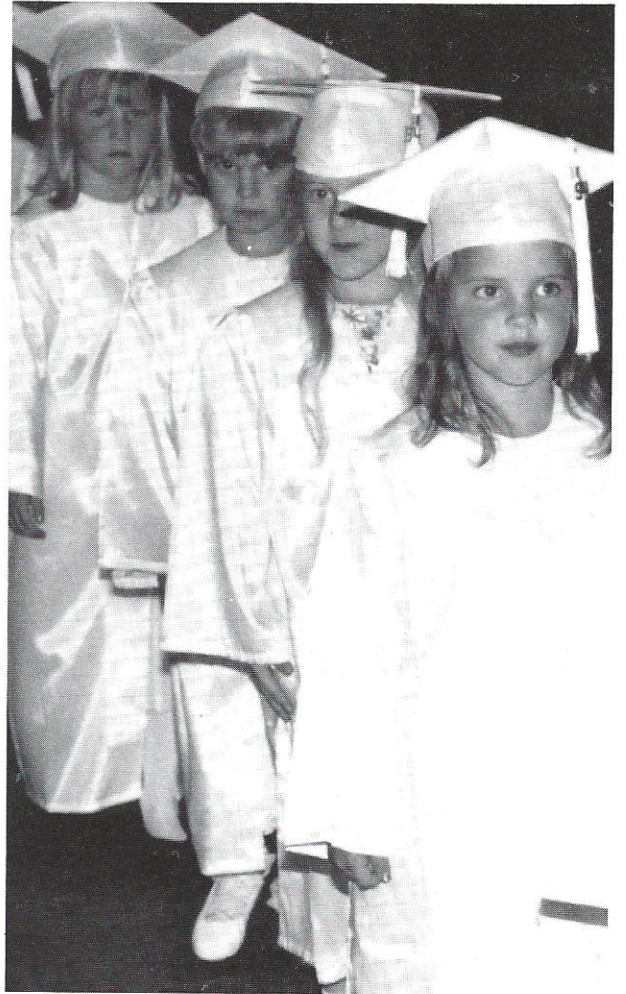

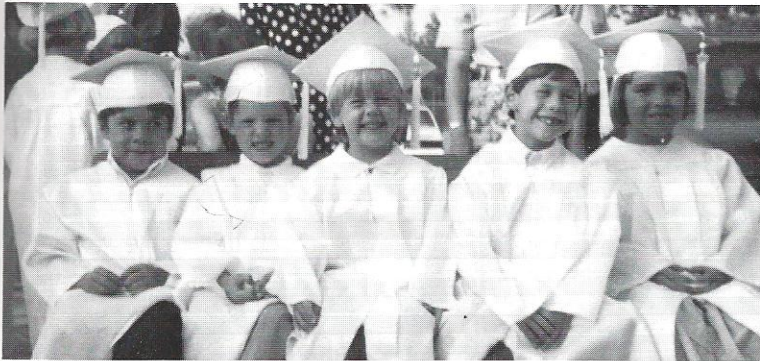

When the clock struck eight on the night of May 27, 1994, the graduating class changed their lives forever as they closed the doors on their pasts at CPA and began new futures as high school graduates. The graduates had time to reflect as guest speaker, Mr. Jim Miles, gave a few words of encouragement to them. Tracy Tittle presented Amy Godley, Student Body President, with the class gift, and touching speeches were made by the Valedictorian, Amy Carter, and Salutatorian, Tina Patel. Final Memories of the night were made as the graduates threw up caps in celebration and said goodbye to CPA.

Like their Senior counterparts, the Kindergarten graduates also donned cap and gown for a long remembered march down the aisle. During their ceremony, the class repeated their alphabet cheer and recited their favorite lines. These two nights will be remembered forever.

Megan Kinard and Kristen Kirby show their fierce sides as they act out their favorite characters from story books.

Recognition goes to the following Juniors who served as marshalls at the graduation ceremonies: Jon B., Kimberly S., Leigh Ann B., Wanda H., Laurel O., Wes P.

The Duke Talent Identification Program honorees: Jared Fralix, Brooks Morehead, Jesse Fillion, Bert Hughes, Karey Trippe, Courtney Hiers, Amber Carter, Morgan Harrell, Amanda Morrissey, and Becky Mixson (not pictured). This honor gives these academically talented middle school students an opportunity to take the SAT and compete for further honors.

Ashleigh Padgett attended Summer Leadership '94 at Columbia College.

Chosen as the Hugh O'Brien Youth Representative, Brandon Fralix is rewarded for his leadership skills.

Jon Baggett, Ashley Woodard, and Patrick Ritter were CPA's Boys' State Representatives and Wanda Herndon attended Governor's School.

EST OF THE BEST

Hardworking students earn special honors and recognition.

One has to be gifted and talented to attend the Wofford Summer Program. This year's qualifiers are Hunter White, Cara Valentine, Reid Updyke, Mary Stone, Jack Beasley, Kelly Smith, Nikki Wise, Becky Sineath, Amanda Morrissey, James Troupe, (Not Pictured): Hannah Huffines, Courtney Hiers, Brooks Moorehead.

The "Best of the Best" can certainly be found at Colleton Prep. These students have the enviable ability to juggle academic studies and leadership skills in the school and community. Consequently, they were selected to attend enrichment programs such as Leadership '94, Boys' State, HOBY Leadership Camp, and The Miss DAR scholarship competition. Attending Other academic enrichment programs such as Wofford Summer Camp, Governors School, and Duke Talent Identification Program have been the reward for CPA students who excelled academically. The honor of participating in programs such as these is given to only a few outstanding students, and these special people truly deserve recognition.

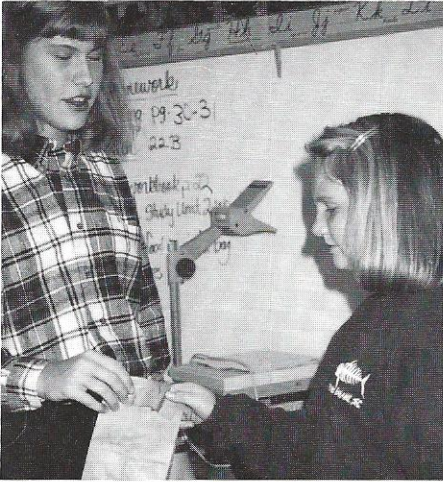

Kimberly Smith was chosen as Miss DAR (Daughters of the American Revolution) for 1994 because of her leadership skills and will compete for a scholarship offered by this organization.

ORMING FRIENDSHIPS

Unique friendships made during Secret Pal Week are put to a scary test on Halloween.

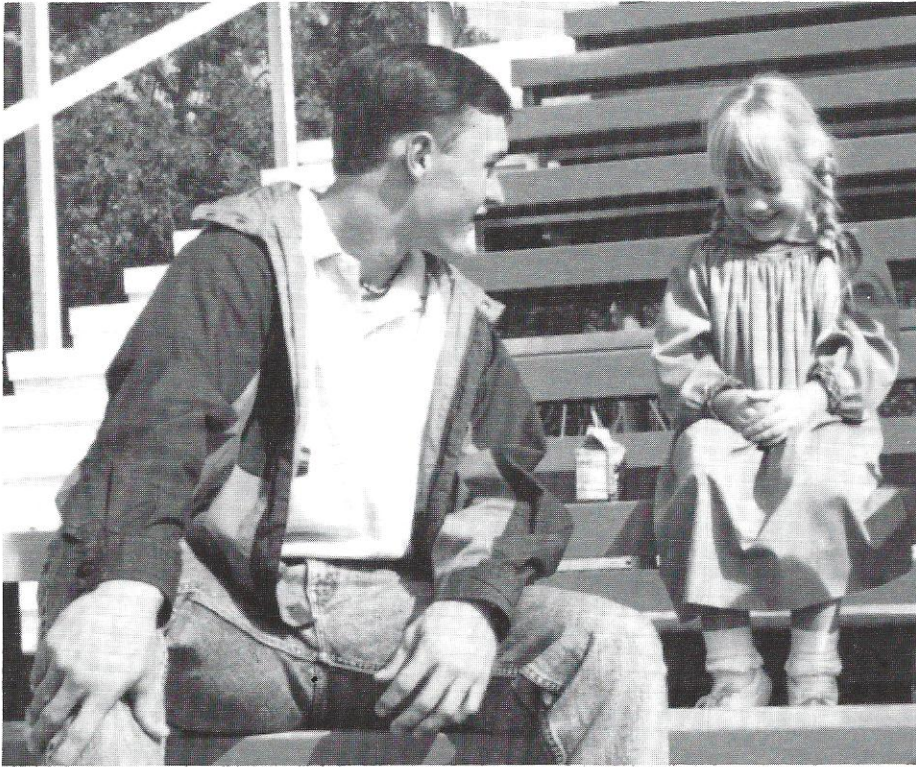

Ansley Bailey receives a bag of goodies from her secret pal, Ginger Speaks.

Students at CPA formed long-lasting friendships every day by working together and sharing experiences, especially during Secret Pal Week and Halloween. Secret Pal Week provided interaction between students of all ages, as younger students received the opportunity to become friends and share a picnic lunch with their older role models. On Halloween, students worked together to coordinate the activities at the Fall Festival. The Junior class spent countless hours building the Haunted House, which served as a major fundraiser for the class. As they continued to work together in the Haunted House, the Juniors formed friendships that will last a lifetime.

Is this Mr. Dittmer's Halloween costume, or has the stress of teaching gotten to him.

What better way to start the school year than by making new friends? Jessica Upchurch laughs with Wes Pye during the Secret Pal picnic. Secret Pal Week is a wonderful sharing experiences that helps students from all grades interact.

"Secret Pal Week was neat because this year instead of being the younger pal, we got to be a Secret Pal to a younger student and give them gifts."

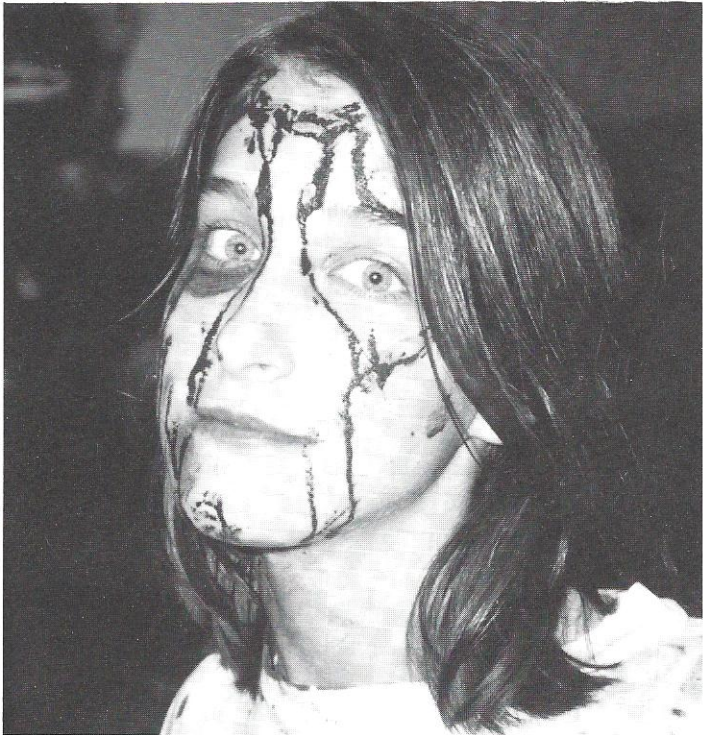

— Carrie Tyler

Who are these ghoulish creatures? Garnett Johnston, Whitney Holmes, and Ashleigh Padgett take a break from their ghostly rituals.

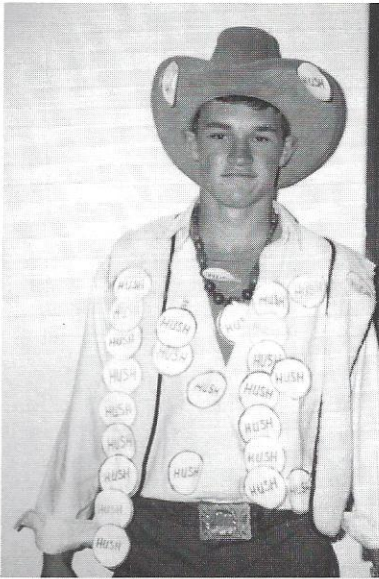

Once again, the Juniors make a "gruesomely good" haunted house. Angie Sweat is just one of the many frightening sights on display during the night.

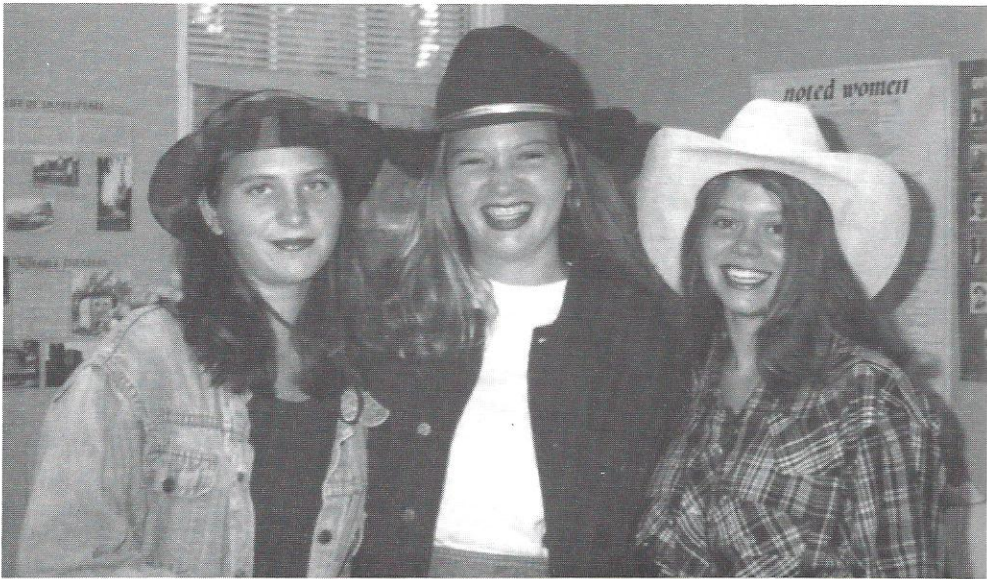

On Halloween, Lolly Oswald and Chad Rowe reveal their true identities as mimes.

Who is this motley crew? It's the seniors, who went all out when dressing for Halloween.

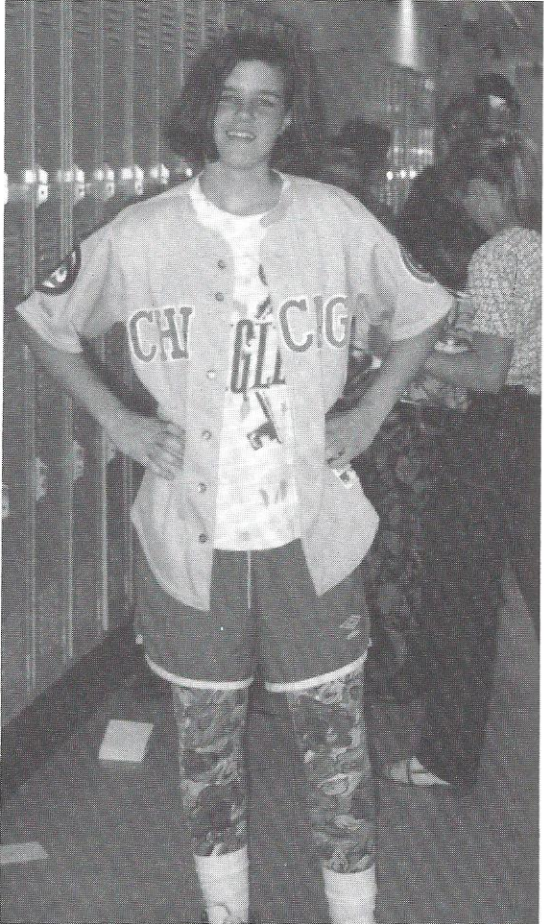

On Hush-button Day, Cowboy Wes Pye won the title of "Mr. Irresistible".

XPECT THE UNEXPECTED

School-wide participation and creative imaginations produce "out-of-this-world" spirit.

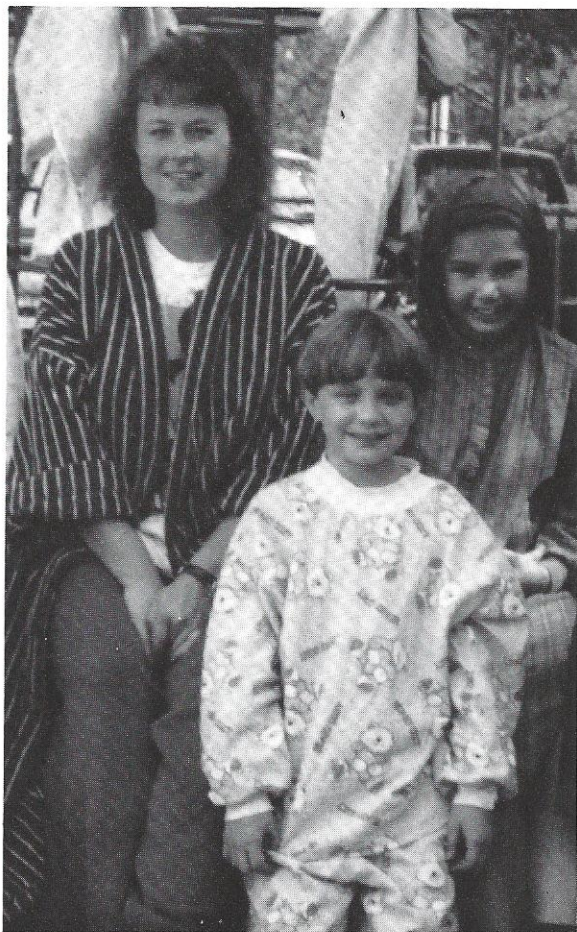

Lounging in their favorite evening wear, Jon Baggett, Wes Pye, Whitney Holmes, Lolly Oswald, Kimberly Smith, and teddy bear "snuggle" during Spirit Week.

From October 17-21, CPA students exercise their imaginations by dressing up for Spirit Week. Pajama Day, Tacky Day, and Redneck Day produced costumes that made people wonder, who would buy these clothes? The outrageousness ended on Friday when middle and high school students performed skits ranging from games to impersonations. Students participated in Hush Button day during which girls were not allowed to talk to the boys. Throughout the week, grades K-12 worked together to show that everyone has the spirit necessary to support the Mighty Hawks.

These 9th graders showed their spirit during Redneck Day. Camouflage, boots, and cowboy hats were the basic attire throughout the school day.

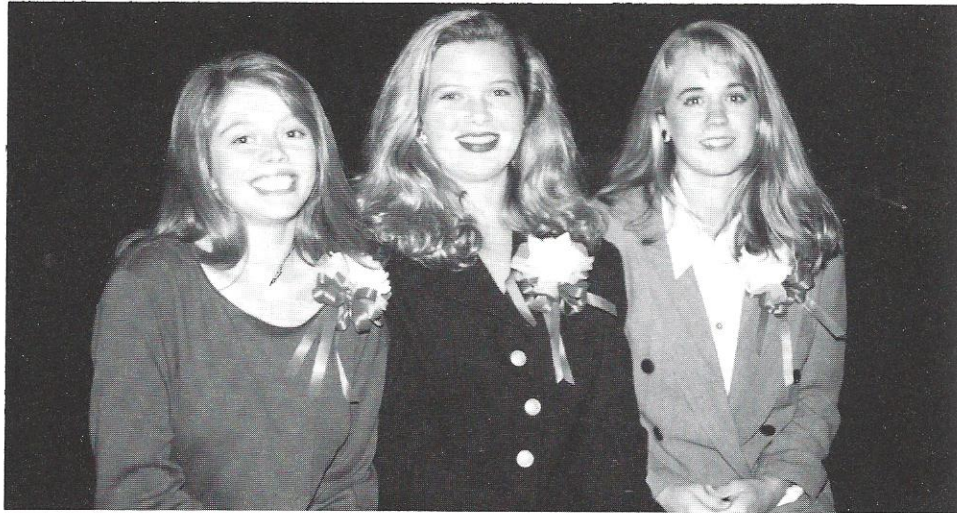

Enjoying Pajama Day, Miss Litchfield models her favorite robe for these students.

During halftime festivities, Amy Godley was crowned Homecoming Queen. The other Homecoming candidates were Jennifer Mixson and Laurel Anne Oswald.

Amy Godley, Jennifer Mixson, and Lolly Oswald anxiously await the announcement to determine the Homecoming Queen.

New Faces

Making The Change.

"A year ago I heard I was to move to the South for my last year of school. I thought I just wanted to go and get it over with. Now I wish it could last forever." — Nathan Hinz

On September 6, the cafeteria overflowed with new faces as the kindergarten parents and students were introduced to the teachers.

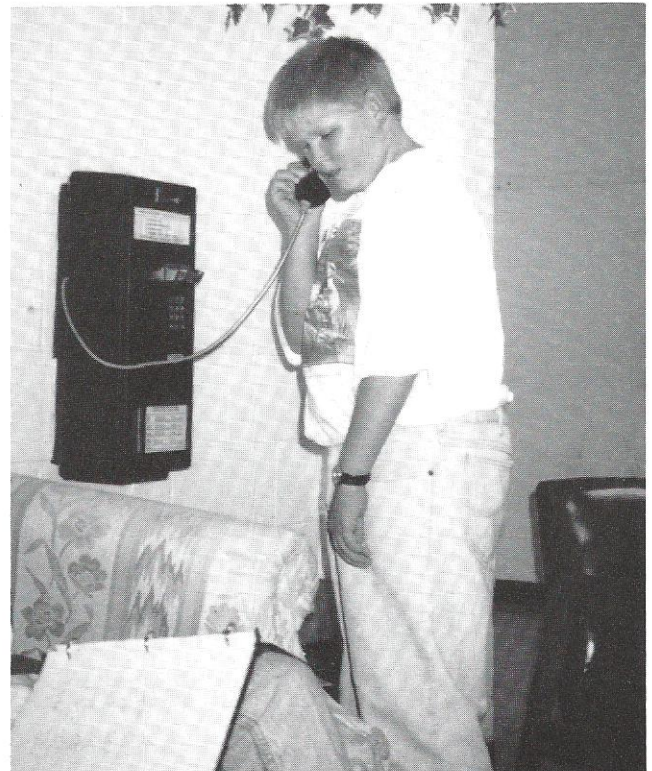

Walking through the halls of C.P.A., one will find many new faces: teachers and students from different places. On the first day of school, many felt lost. But as the year continued, they began to feel as if they were a part of the big family at C.P.A.

New faces and different cultures: Milu Vilchez from Peru and Andrej Setrajcic from Slovenia have added variety to the C.P.A. lifestyle.

Hailing from New Hampshire, siblings Nathan and Jamie Hinz stick together.

Lower School

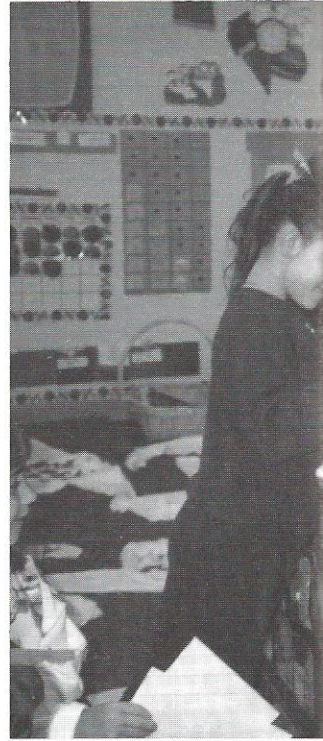

In The Beginning

“Being in the lower school is great because we have recess and also have P.E. once a week.”

— Nicholas Fargnolia

Mrs. Morehead supervises as Adrienne Rizer and Laura Akien return to class after cooling down from recess with a drink of water.

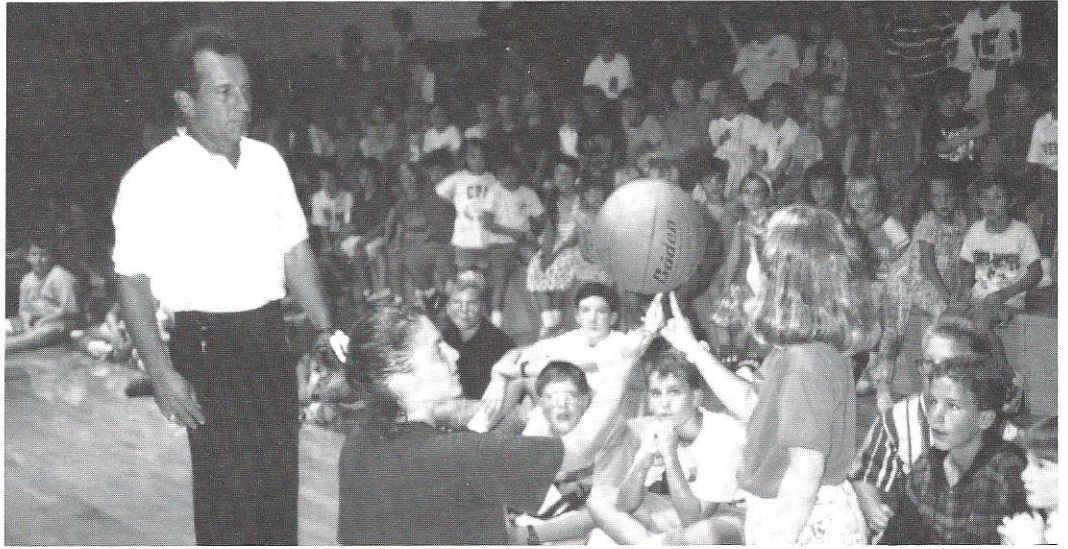

The lower school children participate in many activities, from Wee-Hawks to field trips. The lower school classes have physical education once a week, which they enjoy greatly. They can be seen each day working in the classroom and playing with their friends on the playground.

As Mrs. Armentrout completes the lunch orders, her class constantly asks about their morning work.

Kristen Carter and the other lower school students are excited to meet Coach Stein's daughter, who demonstrated basketball handling skills at an assembly.

Every month, five students from the lower school are selected for the Terrific Kids award. Jackie Barwich, Lauren Stanley, Emily McKay, Alison McCullough, and Christopher Simmons earned the initial honors in October.

K.C. Campbell, a second grader, sharpens his pencil as he waits for his morning assignment from the teacher.

Middle School

Stuck In

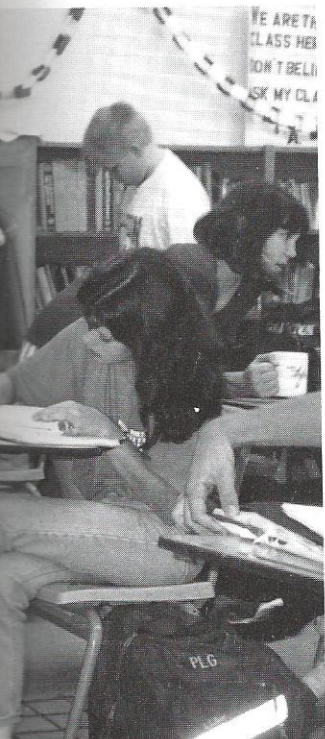

The Middle

"Middle school is fun because we are a part of everything. We have classes in the high school building and we also get to participate in sports." — Michelle Hoats

During orientation, Mrs. Speaks welcomes Kerry Tripp to the C.P.A. family.

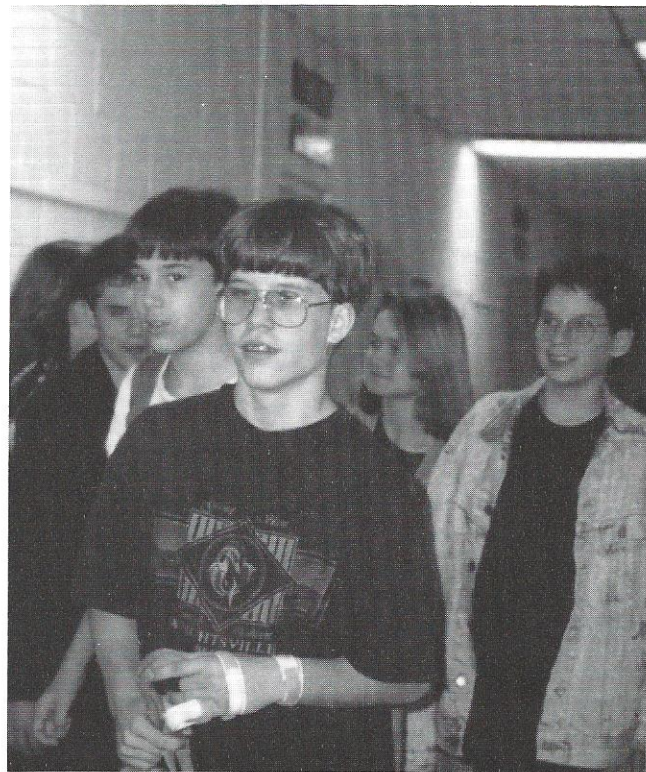

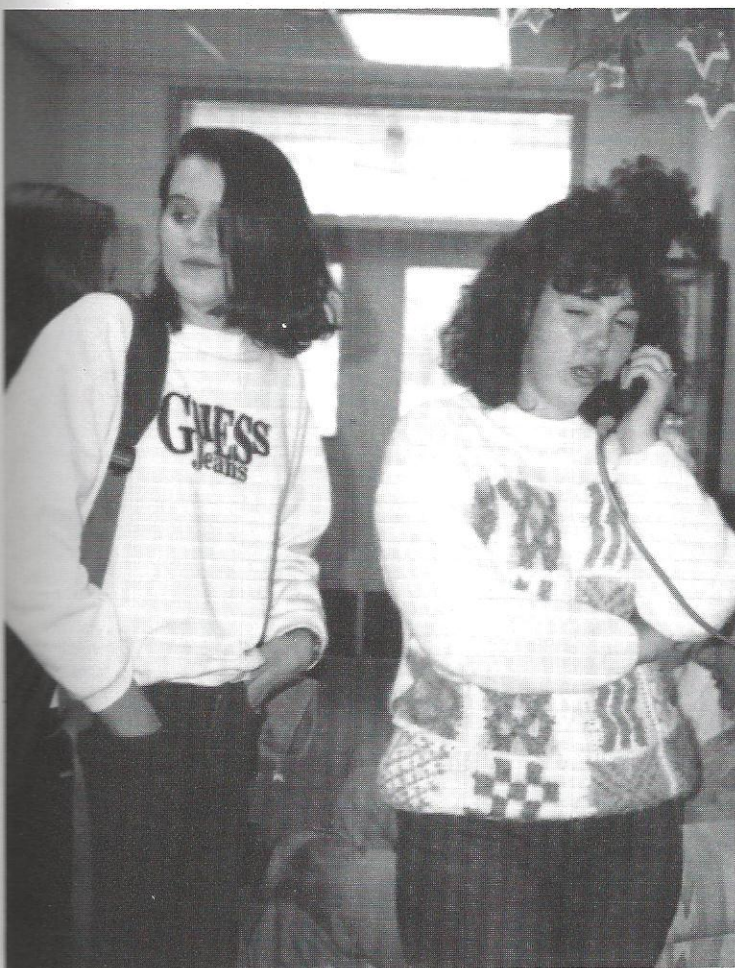

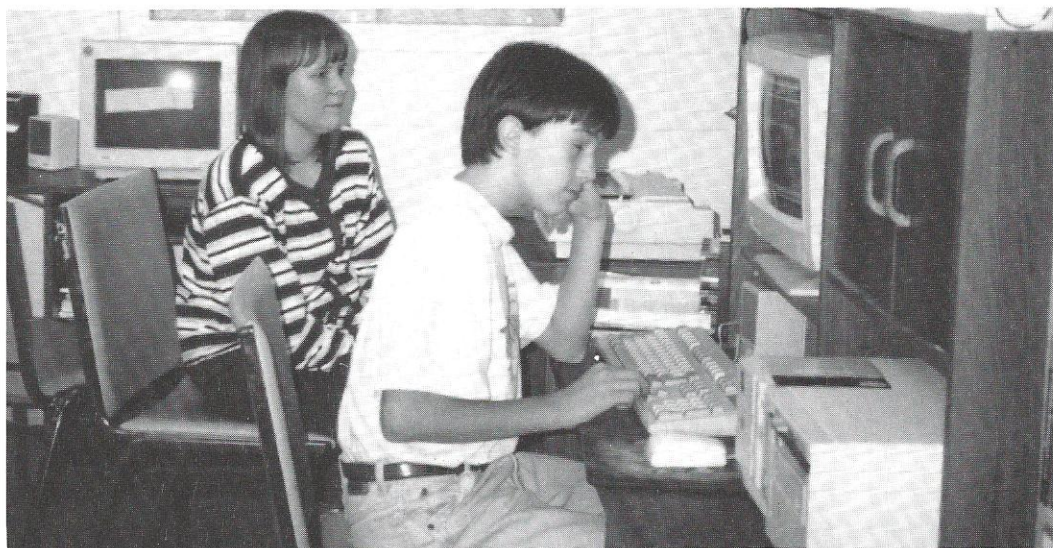

Finally, as part of the big picture, middle school students become more involved in school activities. Everyday they change classes and share the latest gossip about what happened last weekend or the identity of the newest couple. They go through a big change from lower school to middle school, and they may even be a little nervous at first. But when it comes down to it, these might be the best times of their lives.

On the way to second period classes, Morgan Harrell stops to answer Pam Godley's question.

During lunch, Dodd Hulsey and Karen Fisher expand their technological horizons on the library computer.

Trying to beat the bell, these eighth graders battle their way through the crowded hallways.

Amy Nettles and Christy Priester still (on the telephone) catch up on the latest gossip.

Varsity Cheerleading

Go, Fight, Win

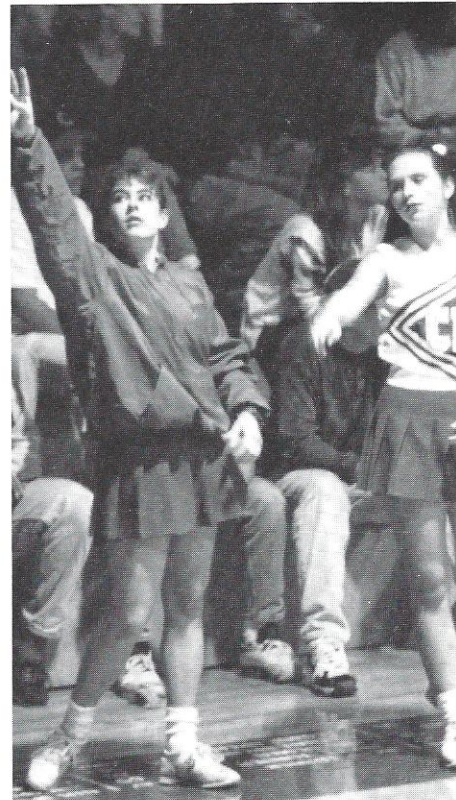

The 1994 Varsity Cheerleaders, sponsored by Wendy Litchfield, had a tremendous year, capturing the Jamboree Competition for the first time in twelve years. "I really felt privileged," stated senior Kimberly Smith, "to be a part of such a great squad."

Captain Laurel Anne Oswald and Co-Captain Ashleigh Padgett commented, "This year's cheerleading squad proved not only to be dedicated but also devoted to becoming best of friends."

Amy Godley, Ashleigh Padgett, and Kimberly Smith work together to finish painting a poster.

JV Football

Littlest Biggest Hearts

The 1994 Junior Varsity Football team finished their season with a 2-3 record. The team was composed of sixth, seventh, and eighth graders who "Worked hard and had fun," stated assistant coach Travis Morehead. The young, inexperienced team is looking forward to a strong and competitive season next year.

JV Cheerleaders

Let's Go Hawks

The Junior Varsity Cheerleading squad had a dynamite year encouraging the JV football team as well as assisting the varsity cheerleaders. This energetic group, sponsored by Brenda Carter, was lead by Captain Kelly Smith and Co-Captain Chris Zipperer. Becky Sineath noted, "The highlight of my cheering experience was performing with the Varsity Cheerleaders on Homecoming Night."

At camp, the cheerleaders enjoy a joke during their break from grueling routines.

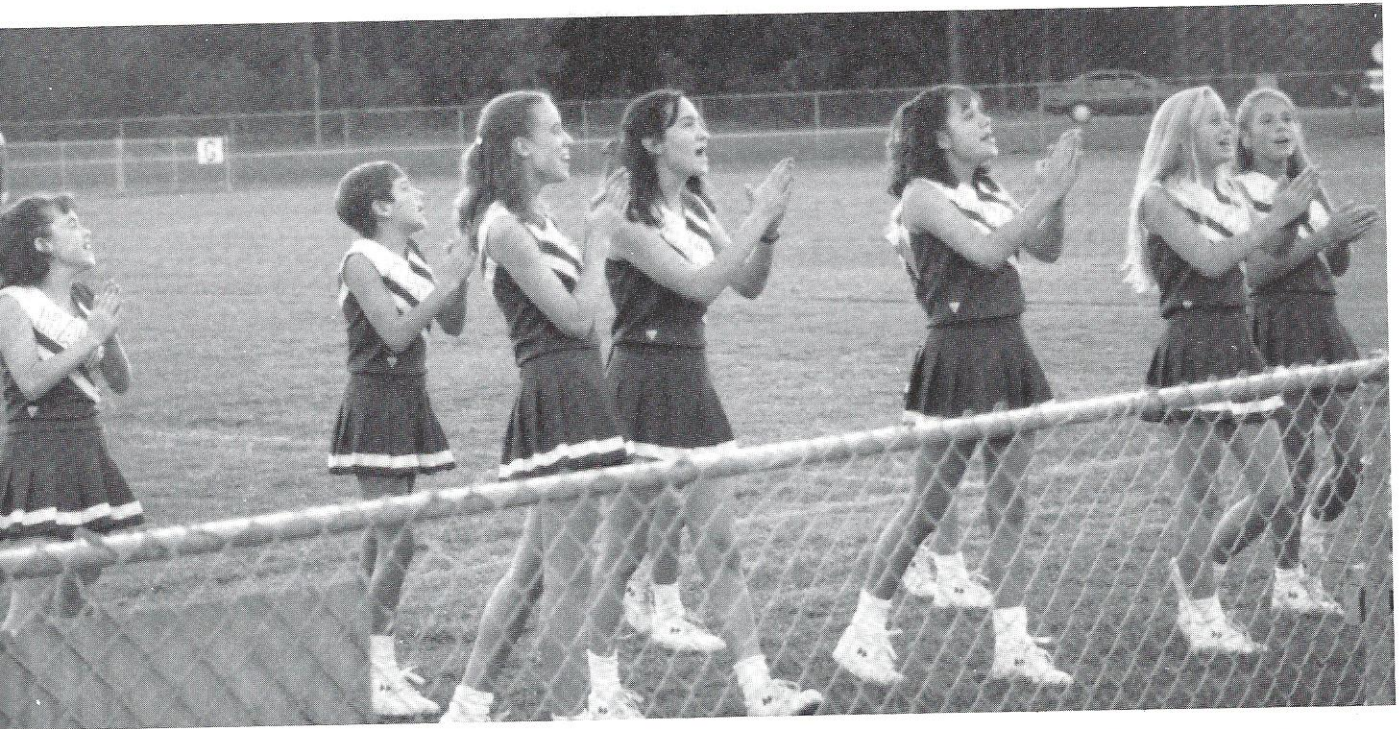

Seventh graders Carrie Tyler and Mary Stone cheer intensely during a basketball game.

Volleyball

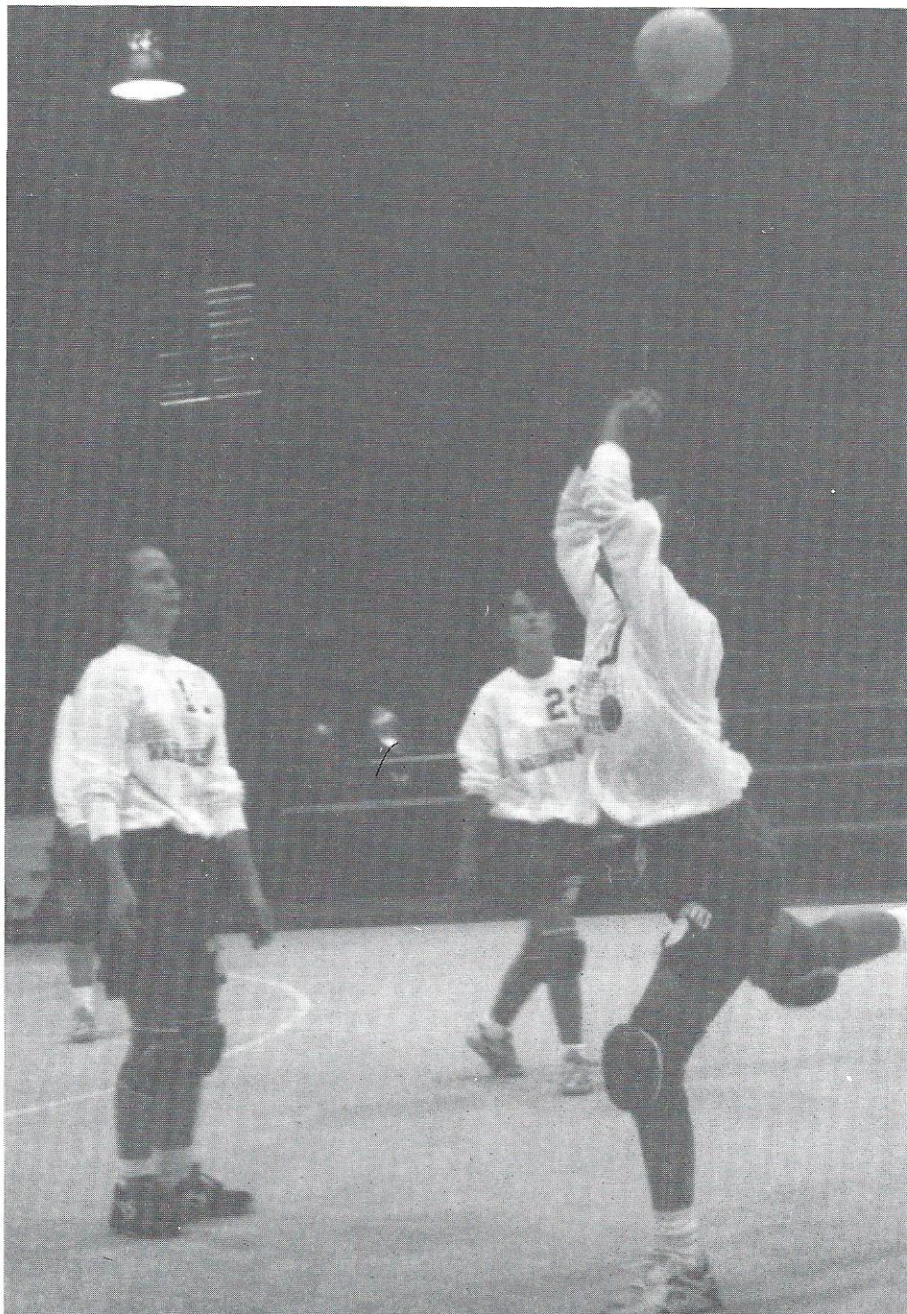

Bump, Set, Spike

With four starters returning, the 1994 Volleyball team showed enormous dedication and effort to win the conference title. Junior Whitney Holmes quoted, "Although I was new to the team, I felt very close to my teammates." They finished their regular season with a 11-1 record, and 12-3 overall.

The Lady Hawks huddle around the coach to review their strategy for the match.

Do It Again

The defending state champions were undefeated until they met their match against Andrew Jackson. After three overtimes, the War Hawks only lost by one point.

The team benefited from the addition of Senior Andrej Setrajcic, a visiting student from Slovenia, and the leadership of seniors Brandon Hiott, Wes Pye, Daniel Garris, Chad Rowe, Patrick Ritter.

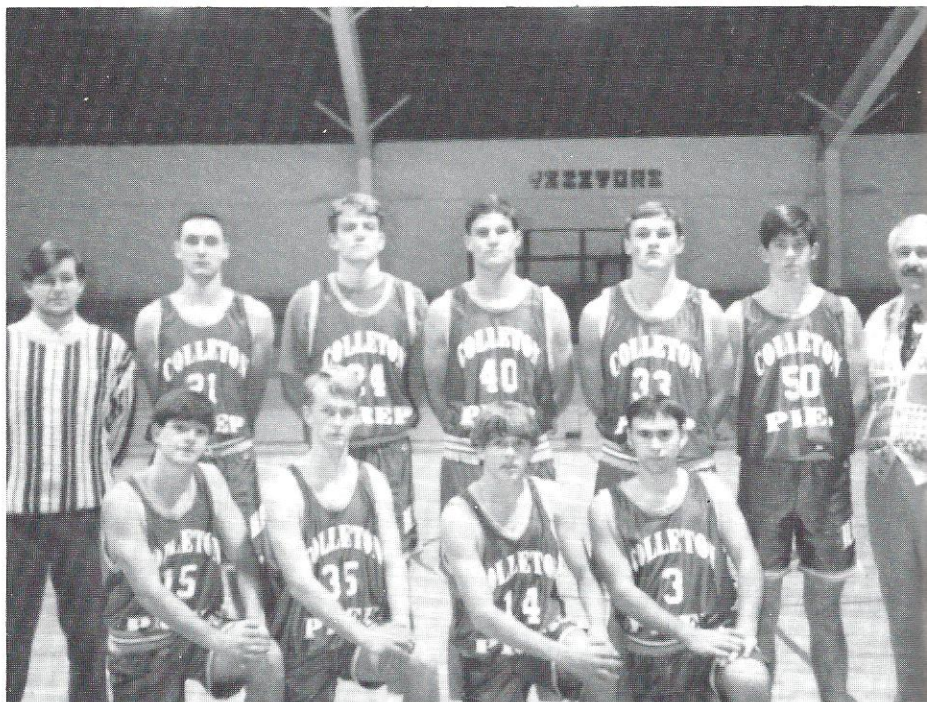

After rebounding the ball, Joe McConnell aims for the basket, hoping to get a foul called.

Ginger Speaks, Garnett Johnston, Ashleigh Padgett, and Lindsay Davenport accompanied Mrs. Folk to Spain.

"Visiting Spain was the most unforgettable experience of my life. I had a blast!" Garnett Johnston.

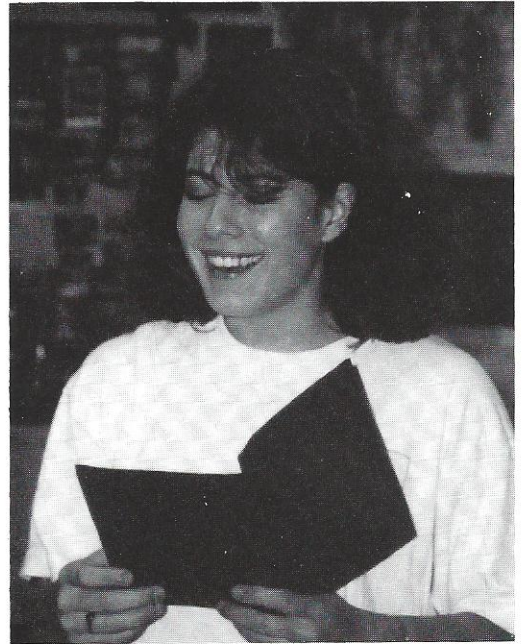

Spanish Club

While visiting Spain, these girls introduced themselves to a statue.

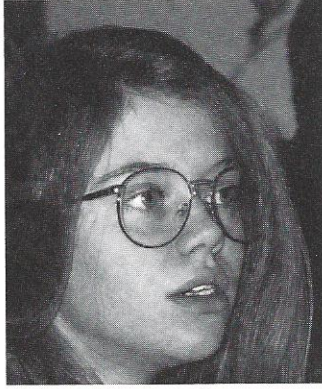

The Spanish Club held a midnight picnic on November 2 in honor of the Day of the Dead. They also sang Christmas carols to their fellow students during a break from exams. Even if students are not enrolled in a foreign language class, this does not mean they cannot be a member of the Spanish Club. Sponsored by Mrs. Sharon Folk, the organization consist of members in grades 9-12. Some members enjoyed a visit to Spain last summer. They learned much about the Spanish culture and lifestyle.

Stephanie Padgett practices her singing in Spanish. Each year, club members sing Christmas carols in the halls.

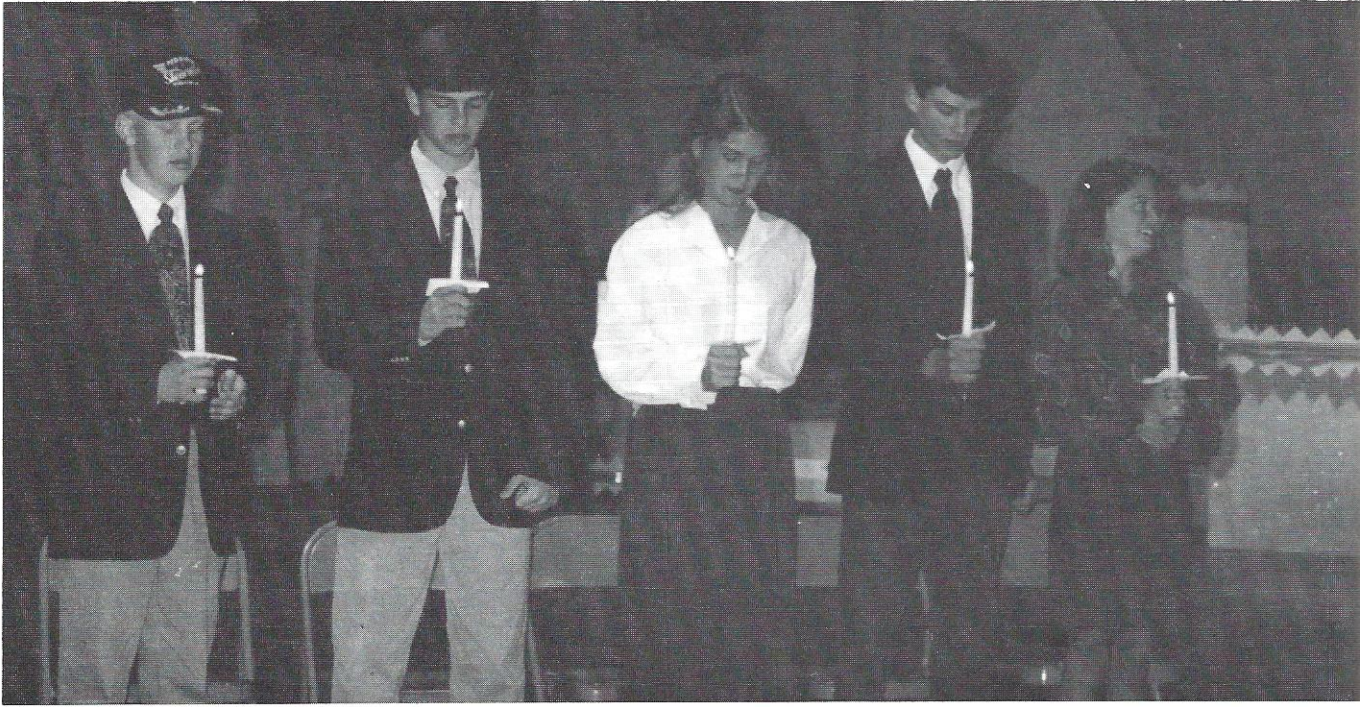

At the induction ceremony held in April each year, NHS members vow their allegiance to the organization's high ideals.

"Not only is it a great honor for me to be in NHS, but it is also a huge responsibility," said Senior Amy Godley.

These new National Honor Society members were inducted during a ceremony held in the spring.

National Honor Society

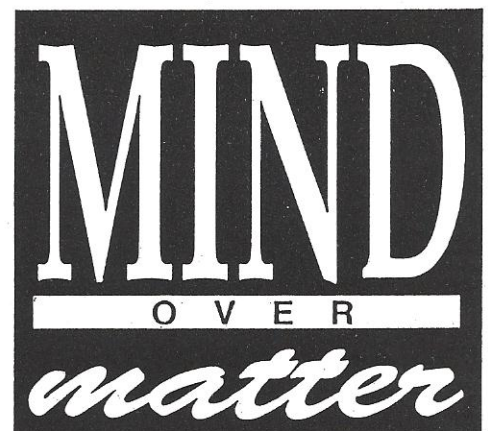

This year's National Honor Society began an exciting year with its new sponsor, Mrs. Christy Hammond. With officers Wes Pye, Garner Regenovich, Patrick Ritter, and Wanda Herndon, this group initiated several exciting projects. For the first time, the group raised money to attend the Spring Convention in Myrtle Beach. Senior Jennifer Mixson stated, "I enjoy being a member because of the recognition it gives to students who work hard."

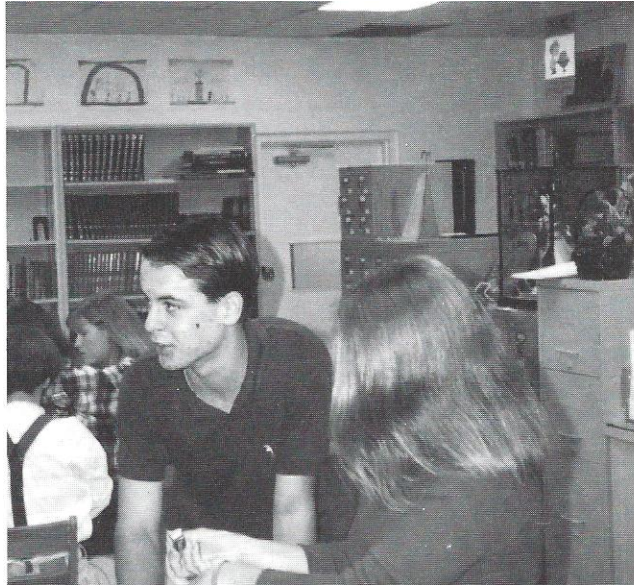

As part of his NHS duties, Senior Patrick Ritter helps in the library.

The NHS sponsor, Mrs. Christy Hammond, uses her spare time to help math students.

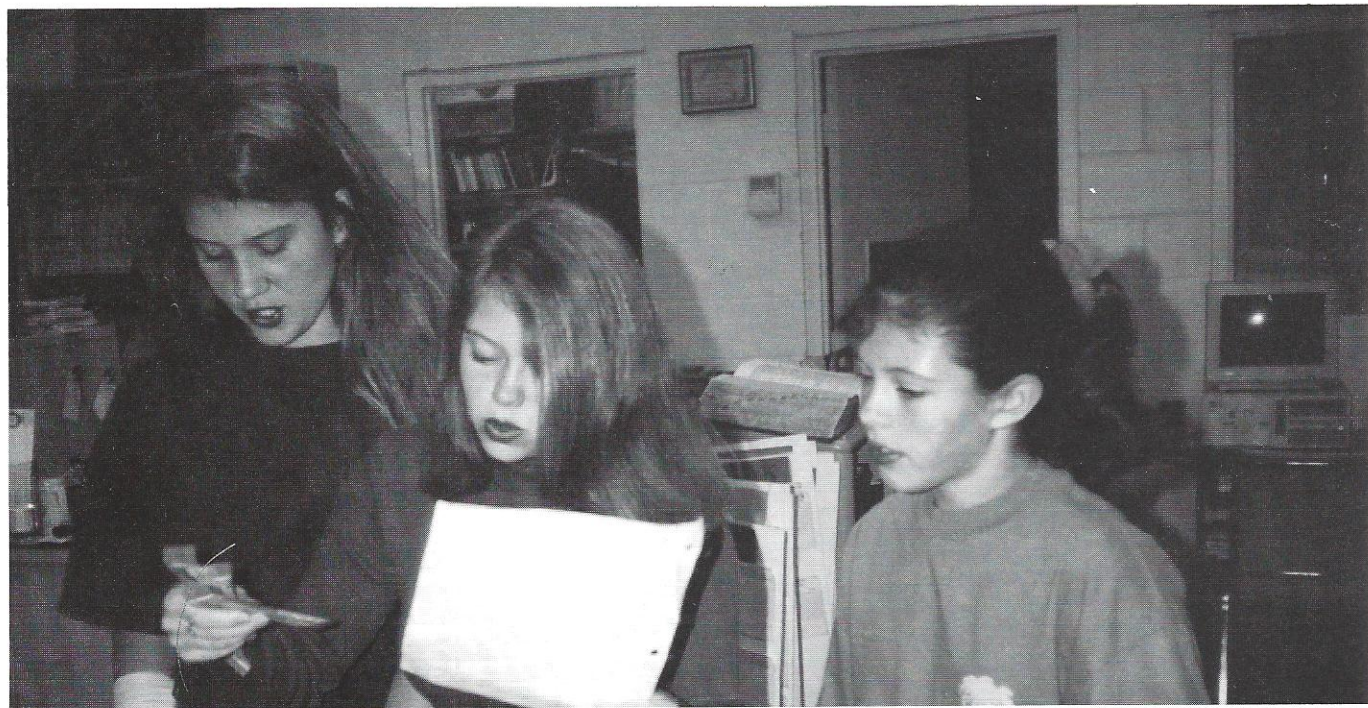

Matthew Bryan helps Amy Godley prepare for a meeting.

Perry Hunt, the senior class representative, rushes to finish his lunch before the meeting starts.

Ashleigh Padgett, Amy Godley, and Pam Godley sold candy every morning during Secret Pal Week.

Student Council

The Student Council is a government body whose officers are elected by the students. Student Council also includes each class president and a representative who serve as a liaison between each grade and the student government. They planned fundraisers, helped the community, and created new ideas to improve the school. Responding to the student's ideas, the Student Council worked for CPA's best interests.

Wes Pye, Garner Regenovich, and Henry Sauls "chow down" before a meeting.

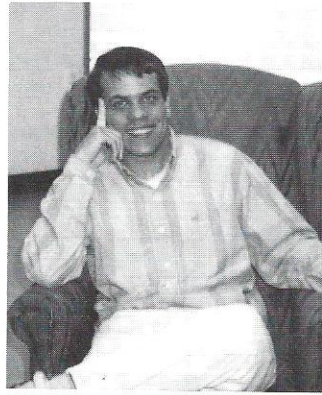

The 1994-95 Student Council Officers: Amy Godley, Ashleigh Padgett, Stephanie Padgett, Henry Sauls, and Sponsor, Mrs. Gary Brightwell.

Ellen Herndon and Brandon Fralix hope to ring their buzzer before the opposing team.

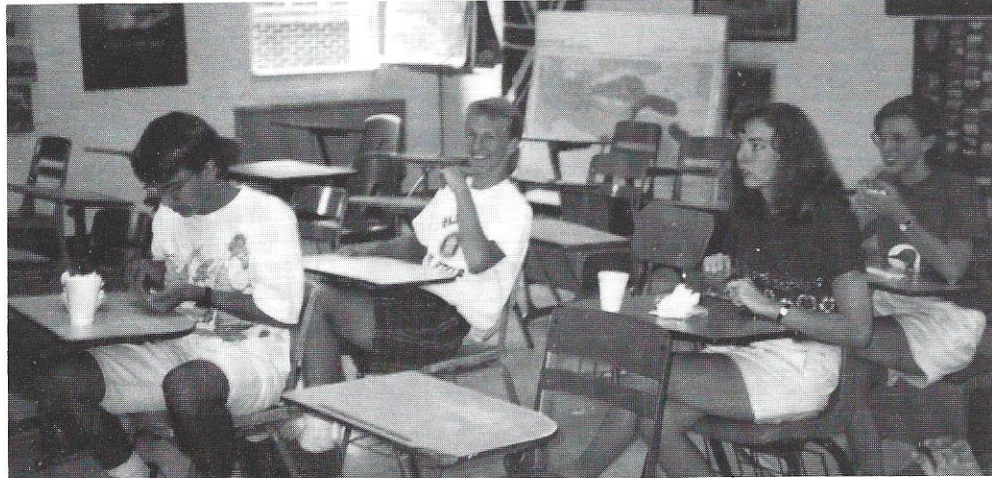

Senior member Jon Baggett ponders the answer to a challenging question.

In December, The Quiz Bowl team travelled to the state competition in Charleston, S.C.

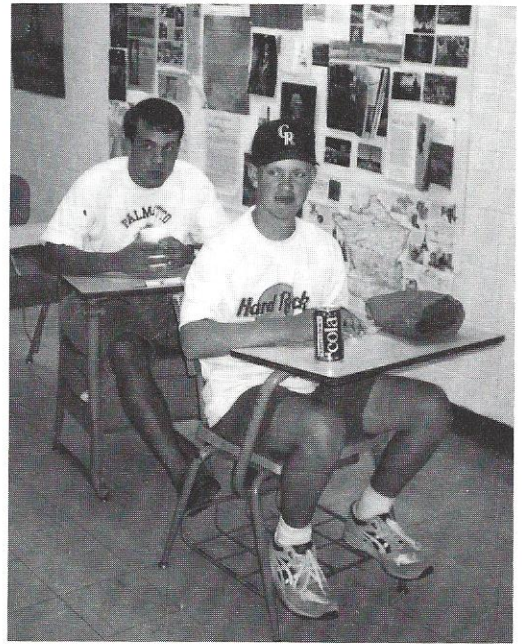

The Quiz Bowl Team was successful because of their dedication; they practiced every day. Team members included Wanda Herndon, Ellen Herndon, Brandon Fralix, Michael Stone, Johnathan Spell, Jon Baggett, Mrs. Wertz (advisor), and Patrick Ritter.

Academic Quiz Bowl

The Quiz Bowl is very challenging. Team members met weekly in Mrs. Werntz's room to prepare. The team members must have fast hands and a knowledge of many subjects. This year's hard-working group did remarkably well by finishing as the state runner-up. By putting their heads together and working diligently, they managed to become a team that the student body was proud of.

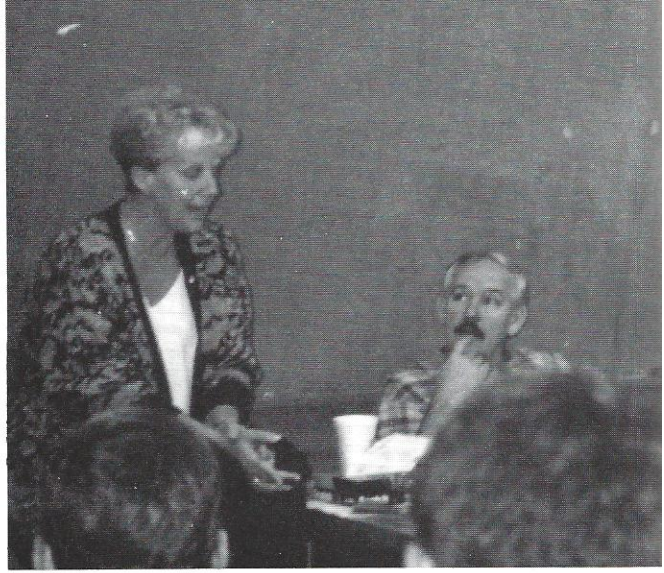

Michael Stone and Jon Baggett appear to be puzzled by Mrs. Werntz's question.

Mrs. Werntz, the team sponsor, prepares for another practice session between classes.

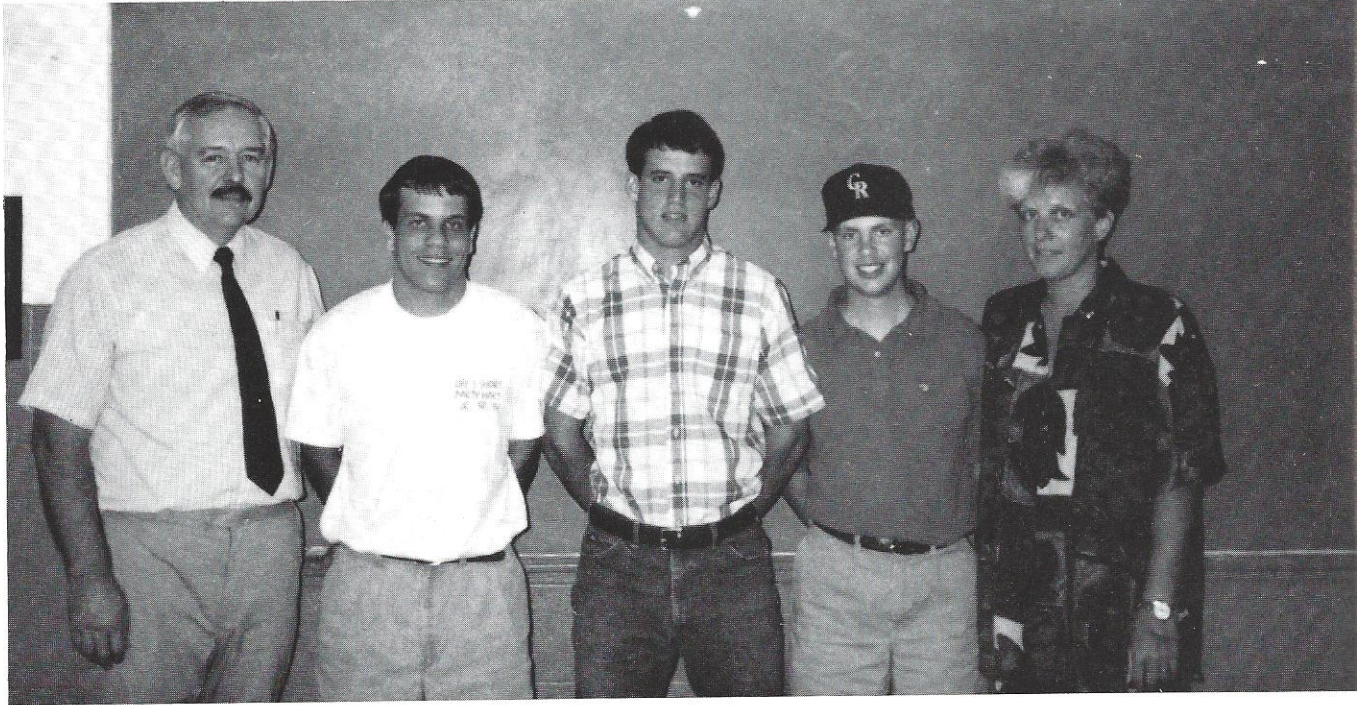

Mr. Morehead listens intently as his wife addresses the group at a regular Monday meeting.

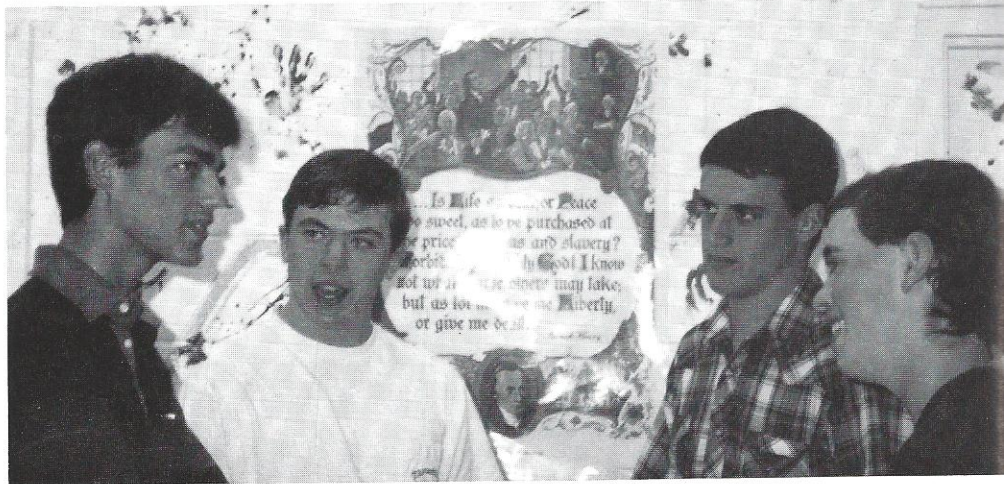

"I think that FCA is a great opportunity for students at CPA to be involved with Christ" — Nicole Robertson.

This year's FCA officers include Jon Baggett, Bud Herndon, and Michael Stone. The advisors are Rev. and Mrs. Barry Morehead.

These junior FCA members discuss the group's agenda during a fifth period meeting.

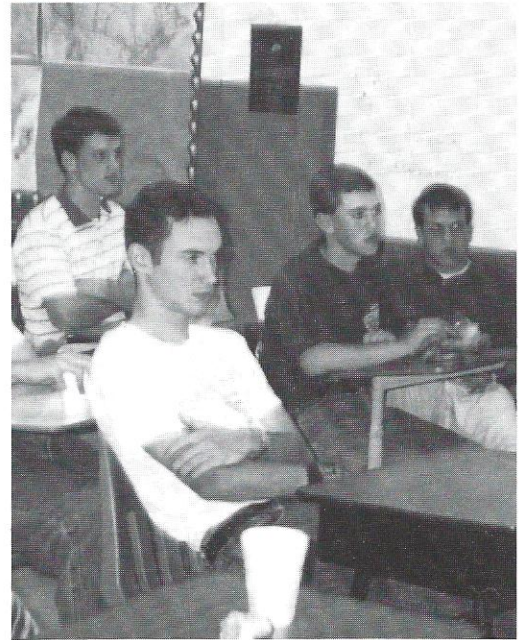

Fellowship Of Christian Athletes

Patrick Ritter and Christina Aichele find humor during a FCA meeting.

The FCA enthusiastically entered its second year at Colleton Prep, as the membership of the club increased dramatically. Once again, the group was led by Rev. and Mrs. Morehead, who understand the importance of spiritual guidance for young people. President Bud Herndon, Vice president Michael Stone, and Secretary Jon Baggett worked together to ensure that the organization reached its goals.

The Morehead's foreign exchange student, Andrej Setrajcic, was one of the FCA's new members this year.

During The PTO Open House, held at the beginning of each school year, Miss Litchfield discusses student's progress with parents.

All of the faculty and staff at Colleton Prep were introduced to the students and parents at this year's PTO Open House.

PTO — Booster Club

The Booster Club officers strive to help CPA athletes excel.

During the school year, the PTO provided a means of communication for teachers, parents, and students. Regular meetings were held in the school gymnasium, during which the officers of the PTO directed discussion on various issues and informed families of business matters and school events.

The Booster Club was also hard at work, sponsoring the annual giftwrap sales and a spaghetti dinner. Thanks to the War Hawk Booster Club, student athletics are funded independently of the school's academic operating budget.

These concerned parents support the athletic program with their attendance at meetings, volunteer work, and financial contributions.

Putting

Mrs. Folk cheerfully discusses the date of the next dance for the sixth, seventh, and eighth graders.

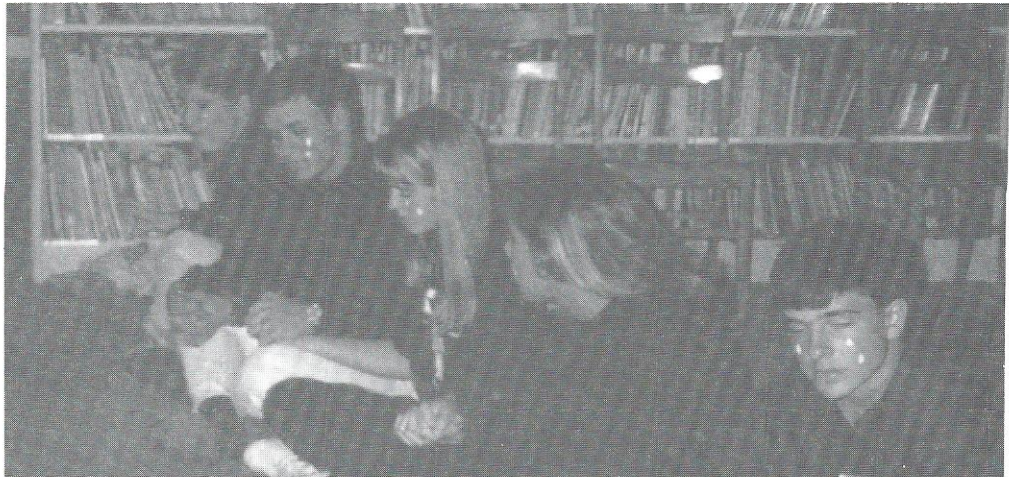

Mrs. Folk carefully explains the next YAB project to the group members.

Kimberly Smith paints tears of death on Lolly Oswald who was figuratively "killed" by a drunk driver.

This year the YAB gave the entire school a scare by showing how many people died from alcohol-related accidents.

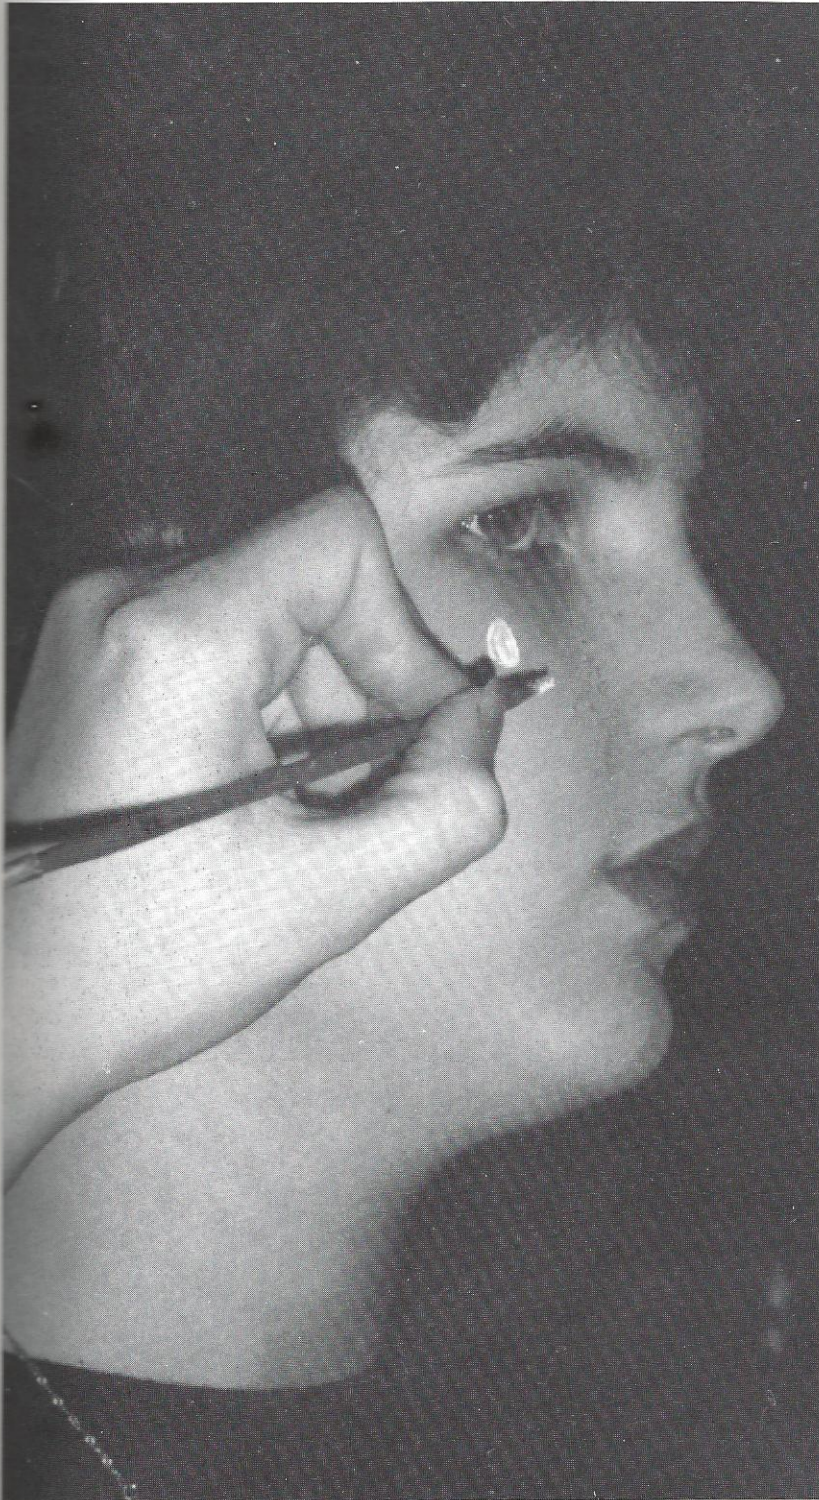

Youth Advisory Board

The YAB had another great year. Sponsored by Mrs. Sharon Folk, the group participated in many new and exciting events. At the end of every six weeks, YAB members presented CPA students and faculty with special "treats" (popcorn or candy). During Christmas, the YAB combined with Student Council members and sang carols to the residents of Colleton Manor.

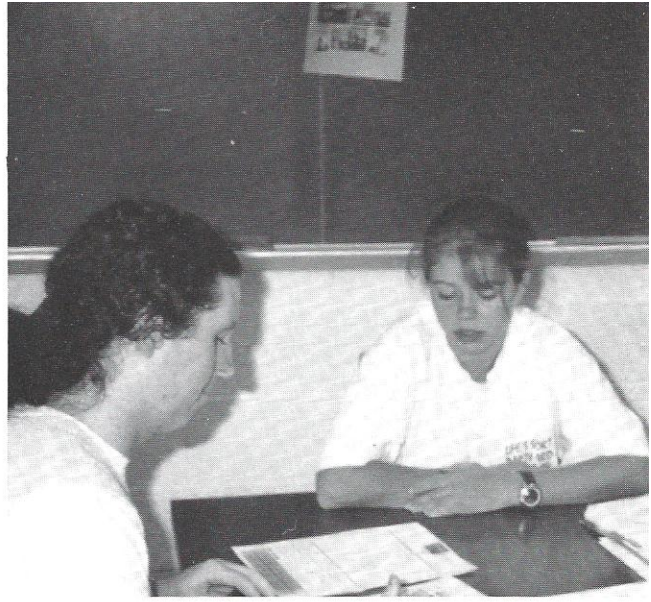

Amy Godley, a senior YAB member, helped Mrs. Folk during the summer by cleaning teachers' shelves.

Talon

Whitney Holmes, a new student and Talon staff member, willingly lends a hand.

The yearbook contains memories of activities, sports, and most importantly, friends. Without a yearbook there would be little to remind one students of school year. Everyone worried when Mrs. Katrina Reeves left, but Mr. Dale Dittmer came to the rescue. From previous experience, he knew exactly how to deal with a young, but extremely eager staff. By working together over the summer, the staff and advisor gained confidence in each other and completed their tasks.

Ginger Speaks, Ashleigh Padgett, Jennifer Beach, and Garnett Johnston listen for their specific section assignments.

Dedications

Mrs. Werntz has always encouraged students to do their best. After taking over as coach of the Quiz Bowl team, Mrs. Werntz led Colleton Prep to its best finish ever, second in the state.

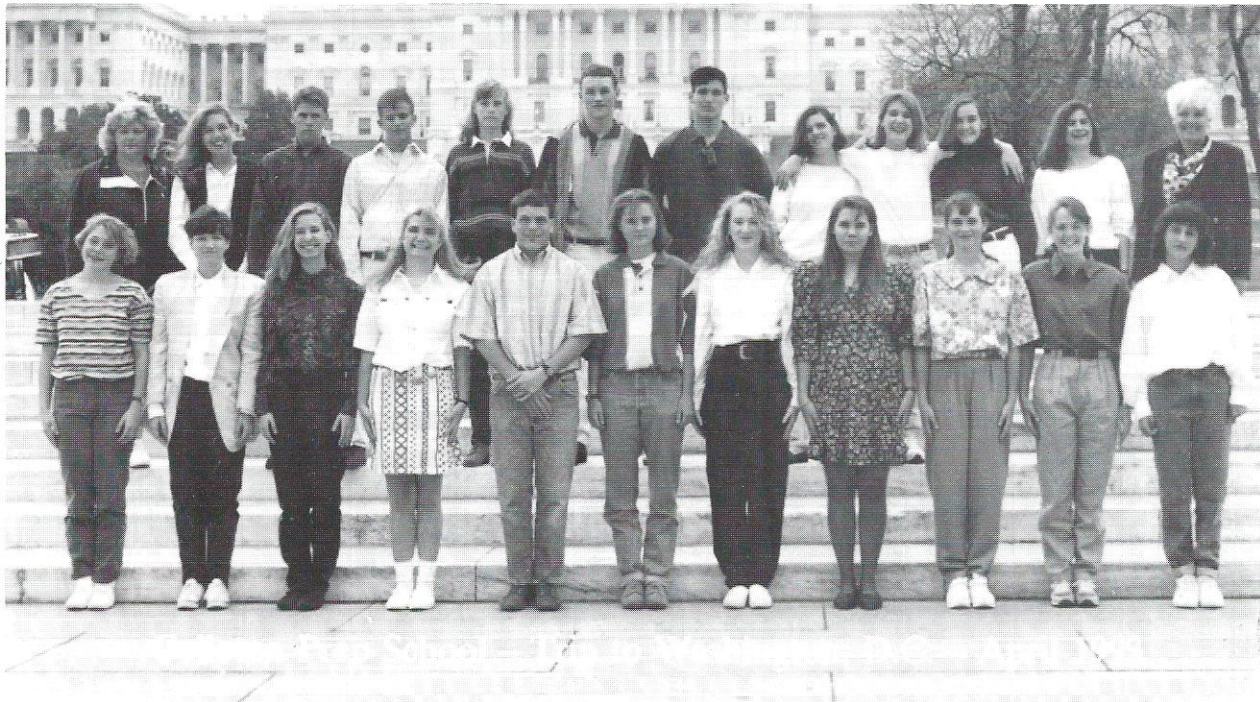

Pushing students to do their best and never allowing them to give up, Mrs. Mimi Werntz instills in her students an appreciation for excellence. At the same time, she also promotes their sense of self-dignity and offers support. Joining the Warhawk family in 1984, Mrs. Werntz has advised Academic Quiz Bowl teams and senior classes. She is known for her sense of humor, remarkable personality, and her "all-discussion, make-up tests."

Mrs. Werntz strives to make learning enjoyable.

Mrs. Werntz has told students that the best way to enrich their minds is by experiencing the world. In April of 1993, she took a group of students on a trip to Washington, D.C.

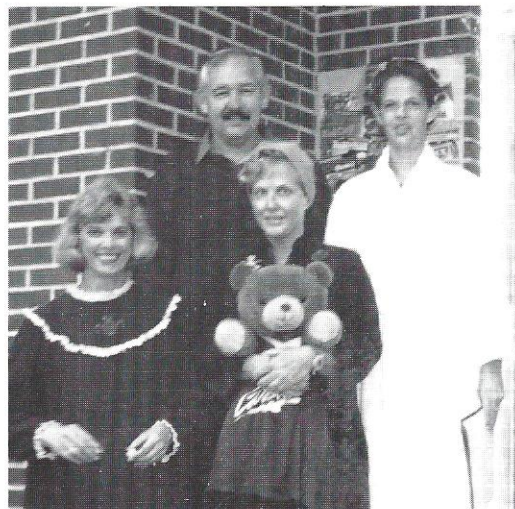

Hands-on-experience and making education enjoyable is how Mrs. Howell teaches. Her techniques prove that one may learn a great deal with a good teacher.

Mrs. Howell holds high standards for her students. "Don't say you can't, when you can!" are words she lives by.

Since 1987, Mrs. Gail Howell has encouraged many students to be strong. For those attending school for the first time, Mrs. Howell represents a "Mommy" away from home, and one will never see her without a smile. She guides students through one of the most important stages of their lives and through all the years at CPA, students never forget her. She keeps them in her memories and they keep her in their hearts.

I love looking back to where we began, seeing us as we were at the beginning, then slowly leafing through the memories we've made together to bring us to where we are today.

I love anticipating the days ahead of us, wondering what we'll find in each other, in ourselves, and in our tomorrows, before another year, our final one together, has slipped away.

But, best of all, I love being with you where we are today, together writing the pages we'll remember tomorrow.

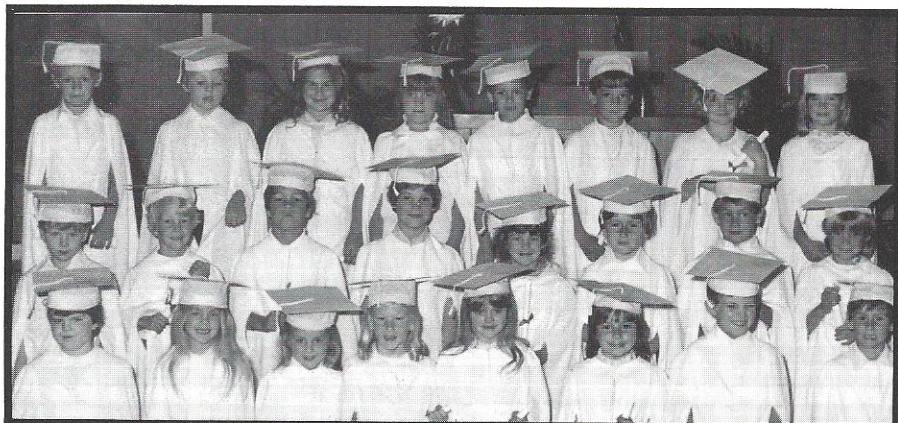

Ashley, Has it been 13 years since you could not wait to start school and have homework like Michelle? We have especially admired you for your good nature and patience, which should continue to serve you well. You are one of the two greatest gifts God has given to us! We love you, Mama, Daddy, and Michelle. AW

The first day of kindergarten, I was crying in a corner when you put your hand upon my shoulder. You told me not to worry. Over the years, we became best friends. Through the bad times, you were always there, and during the good times we laughed 'til we cried. The games, the trips, and the proms are now only memories of long ago. Now we must part and go our separate ways. Today, my friend, when we said goodbye, I saw a tear in your eye. I put my hand upon your shoulder and told you not to worry.

"I can still recall, as our parents dropped us off on our first day of kindergarten, the tears we cried, afraid of a new beginning. It took only a few minutes for us to meet a new friend. How could we have known that the friends we made would be friends for life? Through it all, we have shared our failures and our successes, our tears and our triumphs. Through it all, we have remained together: faithful, devoted, and unwavering. We have had our conflicts, but through them we have grown closer, a closeness that we will carry with us in our hearts forever. Now, we shed tears again, more afraid of leaving the past than entering the future. We must now take the same path our parents have taken before us. We must become adults. We must shed our innocence. However, we cannot lose the bond that has grown between us all. We just keep the faith in each other and ourselves. Remember, you'll never know where you're going until you know where you're from. To my family at CPA, I know where I'm from, and I will never forget you."

COLOPHON

The 1995 TALON was produced by Jostens Printing and Publishing in Clarksville, TN. This issue consists of 160 pages printed on 80-pound double-coated high gloss paper. The 16-page "World Beat" section was prepared by Jostens and World Book Encyclopedia. Century Schoolbook was used throughout the book in 8 point for captions and 10 point for body copy. The cover is Embossed Styleline (575) design, using Black (785) fabricated material with Silver (329) applied ink and Thermo-touch heat sensitive tip-ons. Trim size is 7-3/4 X 10-1/2. 280 copies were printed and sold at $28. Special thanks to: One Hour Photo, Rob Novit of The Press & Standard, Mrs. Jane Litchfield, Jack Young, Dale Dittmer, and especially the TALON staff, who did a remarkable job.

Graduation is here and we must now go our separate ways. We have anticipated the thought of being Seniors, but mixed emotions enter the picture. After thirteen years together, are we ready to say goodbye? These years have been the best of our lives and we will never forget the memories. I have always looked back on our memories together and laughed, but as our time together comes to an end I find myself crying. The only thing to comfort me is the thought of our friendship. Friendship comes from the heart and that is where I will always hold you, my very special friends. Love — Amy Godley

Remember all of our yesterdays,
As we make our new todays.
Remember all we've shared, my friends,
As we go our separate ways.
Tell about the times we've laughed,
And held each other's heart.
Remember this, my friend,
When at last we are apart.

Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein orders his troops to the border of oil-rich Kuwait. The U.S. sends 350 warplanes to the area to support the Kuwaiti forces. By October 11, Hussein orders the withdrawal of most of his forces.

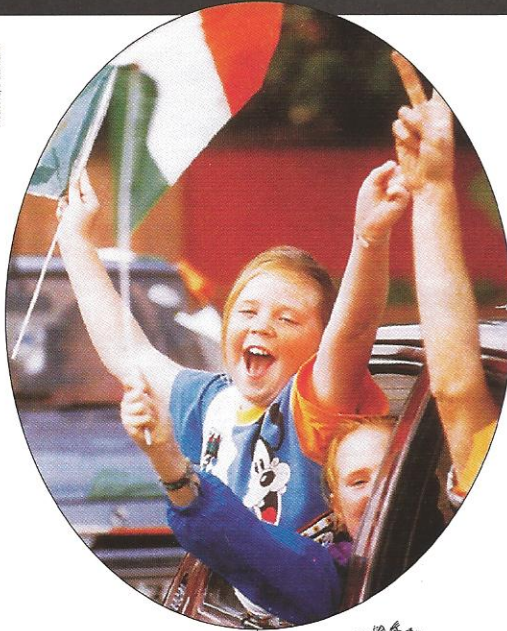

Russian President Boris Yeltsin calls out his poorly trained military to subdue a rebellion in Chechnya, a southern republic the size of Connecticut. Critics accuse Yeltsin of resorting to totalitarian methods of the old communist Soviet regime to keep the shaky Russian Federation unified.

Europe's worst flood in this century kills at least 30 people across Europe. Inland floods caused by melting Alpine snow and relentless rains hit Belgium, France, Germany, and the Netherlands, whose famous dike system begins to crumble late in January 1995 in the face of rampaging rivers. Dutch authorities evacuate 250,000 people from the lowlands.

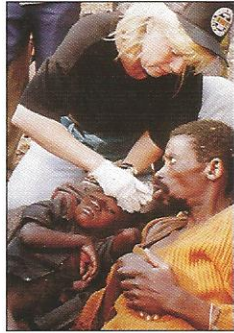

Camilla Parker Bowles, allegedly Prince Charles' mistress, announces her divorce from her husband, Andrew Parker Bowles. Princess Diana is said to be negotiating a divorce from Charles, who will be free to remarry without giving up the throne—unless unhappy subjects force a referendum on the monarchy.

More than 900 passengers die, 140 are rescued when the Estonia, a 15,500-ton Baltic ferry sinks off the coast of Finland in a violent nighttime storm. The storm's 30-foot waves swamp the ship which lists and sinks in a matter of minutes.

Joyful residents of Belfast celebrate after the Irish Republican Army (IRA) announces an end to its military operations in Northern Ireland as of August 31. After 25 years of British military presence and over 3,000 killings, the IRA says it will now seek Irish union only through political channels.

Tipper Gore, wife of U.S. Vice President Al Gore, visits Rwandan refugee camps in Zaire in July. Thousands of refugees, fleeing ethnic conflict in Rwanda, die of cholera, dysentery, and other infectious diseases. Fresh water supplied by the United States military greatly reduces the number of cholera deaths.

When their Army helicopter accidentally strays into North Korea in December, Chief Warrant Officers Bobby Wayne Hall and David Hilemon are shot down by the communists. Washington does not admit to espionage as the North Koreans want, but negotiates for survivor Bobby Hall's release by expressing its sincere regret over the intrusion.

Palestine Liberation Organization chairman Yasir Arafat returns to Palestine in July 1994 after 27 years of exile in Tunisia. Arafat kisses the ground in the Gaza Strip, now a Palestinian autonomous zone under the terms of a 1993 peace accord with Israel.

After a peasant uprising in Chiapas and two major political murders, Mexico gets a new president. Ernesto Zedillo, an economist, assumes office only to face a stockmarket crash, a ruined economy, and a loss of international confidence in the wake of the North American Free Trade Agreement.

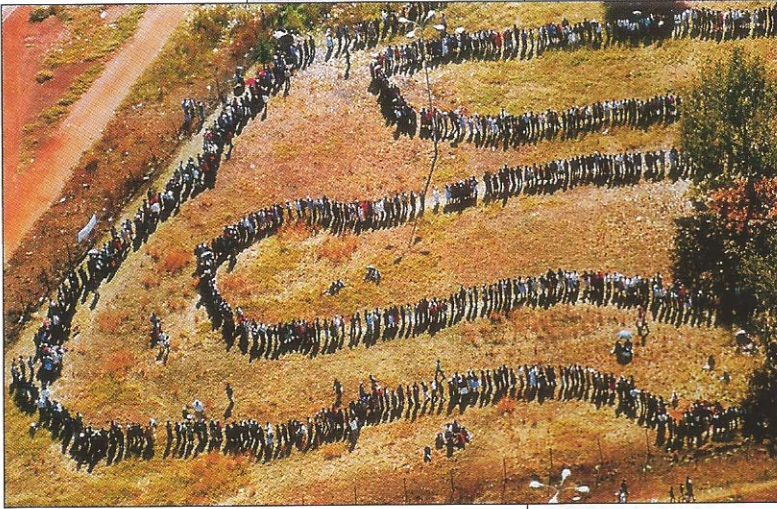

Conservative religious groups and those who believe in individual rights clash over issues of education for women and family planning at the U.N. International Conference on Population and Development in Cairo, Egypt, September 5.

Basquet-Sorido from Gamma Liaison

On July 25, U.S. President Bill Clinton welcomes King Hussein of Jordan, right, and Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin to the White House, where the two sign a historic nonaggression pact that ends a 46-year state of belligerency between Israel and Jordan.

AP/Wide World

Millions of South Africans travel weary hours and wait in mile-long lines to vote in the first all-race elections. After more than a century of white rule, the voters choose former political prisoner Nelson Mandela to preside over the dismantling of apartheid.

Jimmy Carter, former U.S. president and self-styled global troubleshooter for peace, negotiates on behalf of the U.S. in Haiti, Bosnia, and North Korea. He even offers to help settle the baseball strike.

AP/Wide World

In Japan, an earthquake with a magnitude of 7.2 collapses buildings, derails trains, buckles elevated expressways, and causes fires throughout the city of Kobe. Over 5,000 people are killed and 26,000 injured. The Japan quake occurs January 17, 1995, one year to the day after a quake devastated Los Angeles.
