

Chuck-town and Cheese

Despite rain and slick roads, the Class of 96 ventured to Charleston for senior photo day. Even the animals at CharlesTowne Landing appeared miserable, but the seniors made a go of it: Al, Henry, Ginger, and Courtney rented bicycles-for-two; Garner led the guys on a visit to the snake house; and Christina, Angie, and Kaci modeled for a totem pole.

Suddenly, a vision of pizza danced in the seniors' heads. Seeking refuge, the students traveled to Chuck E. Cheese's Pizza Parlor and warmed themselves with food, video games, and, ironically, water gun fights.

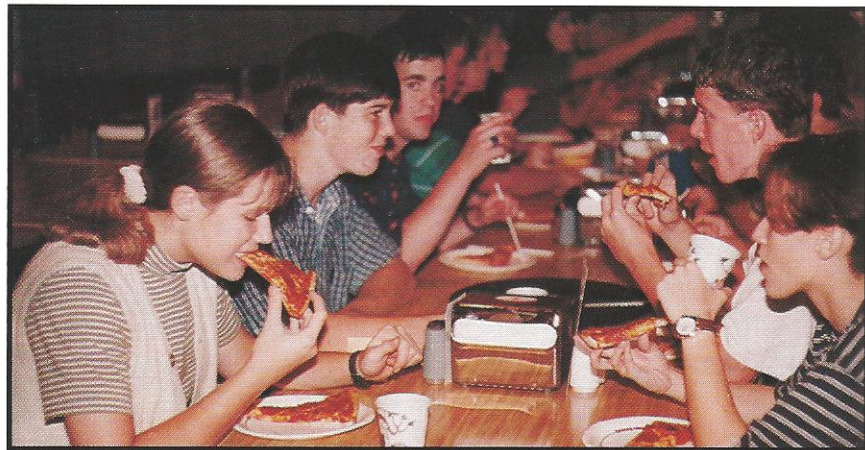

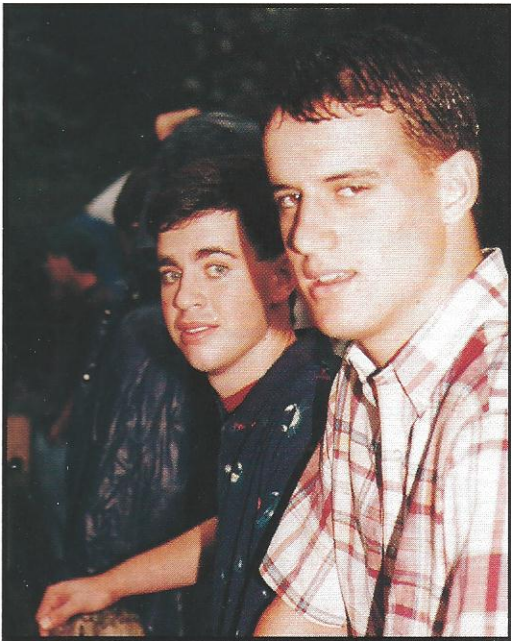

After being entertained by Chuck E. and his band, Jamie, Gary, Frankie, and Kin rolled skeetballs and cashed in their tickets. Garnett, Ashleigh, and Joe begged to play in the "kiddie" section, but played with their toys instead. Michael learned to play a new instrument; Ryan and Lindsay took to the air hockey table, with Jeep looking on; Bud raced video cars; and Jennifer put her camera to good use. Alas, Whitney nursed an illness and missed the festivities, but Adam asked Chuck E. Cheese to give him a hug for the missing senior.

Turkey Hunting. Gary Herndon and Frankie Kellam search for wet and wild turkeys at CharlesTowne Landing.

Pizza Time. Ginger Speaks, Joe McConnell, and Courtney Stevenson warm up with some pizza.

Gator Patrol. In Charleston, Michael Stone and Bud Herndon search for alligators who were smart enough to seek shelter from the rain.

Hams and Cheese. The Class of 96 and Chuck E. Cheese's Band prepare for their next performance.