

Two groups graduate each year, high school seniors and kindergarten students. Nevertheless, the title of a book by Dr. Seuss might apply to all of the 1995 graduates: Oh, the Places You'll Go.

Former Congresswoman Elizabeth "Liz" Patterson quoted from Seuss' book during the high school commencement ceremonies on May 26. The same words would have been just as appropriate for the graduating kindergarten students. Because in the three months between spring commencement and autumn classes, seniors move on to college, while former kindergartners take their places in the first grade—new situations for each group, and plenty of times to remember.

Kindergarten Graduation Ceremonies: (Top) Proud Peacocks. During graduation ceremonies last spring, Ellis and Jessica Upchurch demonstrate "peacock pride" in having completed their first year in school. (Left) Helpful Howell. Mrs. Gail Howell adjusts Ellis Upchurch's graduation cap. (Bottom) Patience is a Virtue. Kristin Clark, Rachel Culpepper, and Meredith Drawdy anticipate even more fun as first grade students in 1996.

