

I, Fannie Mae Stokes, do hereby will and bequeath to Doris Adams and Lily Mae Spell my ability to do bookkeeping. To Elizabeth Ackerman my ability to get up in a basketball game after being knocked down by the opposite team.

I, Cecil Stokes, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to tell jokes to Doyle Stokes and my agriculture note book to Gus Harbiston, hoping that he will keep it better than I have.

To little Jay Ackerman, our mascot, we leave our best wishes hoping that he will always remember the Senior class of 1941.

--Mary Jo Reeves, Testator