

Class Prophecy

St. James Methodist Church

Charleston, S. C.

May 29, 1962

Dear Betty Jane:

Congratulations! I was so glad to see in the paper that you have opened a kindergarten and nursery school. Forty little children to start with is very good.

A few days ago I was informed that Peggy Ackerman is secretary to the district attorney, Gene Smith. They are both following a good profession.

I got a letter from Betty Blanton last week. She is superintendent of nurses at the Colleton County Hospital. I understand she is very outstanding.

Deloris Anne is in New York dancing in a night club. She liked to dance when we were in high school, but I didn't realize she liked it that well.

Last winter I went to California on my vacation. One day while I was out there, I was looking around in a curio shop. I selected a gift for Mother and Daddy and walked to the back to pay for it. While I was waiting for my change, the manager happened to come out and she was Margaret Muckenfuss. I don't think I have ever been quite so surprised in my life.

David Brown is teaching chemistry at The College of Charleston. He is considered one of the most outstanding college professors of the South.

I know you must be proud of your brother, Bobby. Being such an outstanding comedian on a large station like WCSC in Charleston is quite an honor.

I have a job as youth director at St. James Methodist Church in Charleston. I like this type of work quite well.

I hope I shall be able to see you soon and we can talk about our good times at Cottageville High.

Sincerely,

Ann McLendon
Class Prophetess