As We Close

As we close our book of memories we look back on the days where it all began--the first grade. We entered school in 1951 and the days that followed were filled with many new experiences, fun, work, and much preparation for future adulthood. We hold dear the precious memories these wonderful days have given us. The experiences we have had in these past school years will always be a part of us because they have helped to enrich our lives so much.
