

Grow gold in your heart, and love for your soul,
new wings for your spirit, to fly above your troubles.
Grow wildflowers, and chocolate milk mustaches,
and a field of dreams in your own backyard.
Grow happy way down deep, and grow rich in what matters to you most.
Grow young with the years in the ever unfolding fairy tale of your life.
Grow hope in the world until the rainbow outside your window is as beautiful as the one inside your heart.
Congratulations Jessica!
Our love, Mr. Mike and Miss Kimmie

Jessica, we've had so much fun this past year!
Congratulations and best wishes for whatever you do.
Love, Kori

A man's worth is not measured in years
Nor by his ability to swallow his tears,
But he is admired and respected by all
When he learns to keep living despite all his fears.

Manhood is a milestone some never achieve,
Responsibility and accountability they never receive.
Yet some assume these burdens while young.
I believe that you are one of these lucky ones.

For now you stand armored and ready for life-
Prepared to face and to conquer all strife.
You are a strong man, one steadfast and true.
You make me so proud by just being you.

I wish for you a future of love and success,
Full of tomorrows sparkling with happiness.
Just remember that the road will sometimes be rough,
But a man like you knows how to be tough.

All my love,
Mom
