

Robbie,

Where have the years gone? They've passed too fast. You have grown from a rambunctious (and a little grumpy) toddler to a free spirited, funny, and wonderful teen.

However still a little grumpy at times.

Your father and I love you very much. We are so proud of the man you have become. You have the ability to be whatever your heart desires. Just reach inside, find what you want and go for it. Don't let obstacles stand between you and your goals.

The house will not be the same without you there. You have been such a help to me this past year. Enjoy your college experience. The four years will pass quickly. Place your studies first and you may be amazed at what you are capable of.

We will always be here for you.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Robbie,

will miss you when you go to college. I hope you make lots of friends there. Don't flirt with too many girls because it aggravates them.

Your Smartest Brother,
Frankie
