

It was an honor being chosen as Editor in Chief of the 2003 Dorchester Academy Challenger Yearbook. It was an exciting task that had many challenges that were met every day. This was an experience that I will treasure for the rest of my life. Being editor has taught me many lessons in leadership that I will take with me in the future. I could not have completed this yearbook and made the best it could have been without my determined and focused staff members. To my assistant editor Sara Chianini, thank you for helping me make the layouts, crop pictures, and make sure that everyone was on task and completing their work. I could not have accomplished my deadlines without you. To the 2003 Business Managers, Nikki Dukes and Angela Eadon, thank you for doing such a great job on the senior ads and business ads. I couldn't have asked for two harder working people than you. To the 2003 challenger staff, thank you for all of your hard work, creative ideas, and dedication to get the job done no matter how much time it took. I couldn't have asked for a better staff than all of you. To the 2003 challenger adviser, Mrs. Karen Schwendinger, you are truly an amazing woman. I couldn't have made my deadlines, got everyone to complete their work on time, and made this yearbook truly "Not Just Another Yearbook" without you. Good luck in the future. To my family, thank you for all of your help reassuring me that I would get the yearbook done and it would be great. I couldn't have made it without your love and guidance. To all of the friends I leave at DA, good luck in finishing high school, always remember to keep your eyes on your goals and they will be accomplished. To all the teachers, administrators, and coaches that has been a great influence in my life. You have all taught me so many things that I will take with me in the future. Every thing all of you have taught me has touched my life in its own special way, I will never forget you. To the graduating class of 2003, all of you have worked hard for graduation, and you all deserve it. This has been a year we will never forget and this yearbook depicts that. Good luck in the future and always strive for the best!
