Well our high school years are coming to an end. I am so proud that you stuck your goals this year and worked your hardest. I'm going to miss you when you go to school next year. I know I'll go crazy thinking about you. I love you mostest astronomically more than life itself, with a wham bam thank ya sir!

I love you, and I can't say how proud I am of you. You've made me happy since the day we met, and I hope we continue to share our love.
